A Wrong Idea

Many people have got the idea that blankets sent to a cleaner's are injured by the process of wool raising.

We Guarantee

that our latest wool-raising machine will in no way injure the articles. They will be returned to you beautifully soft and white as when bought.

Test it for Yourself.

WOMAN AND HER HOME.

CHARACTER IN HANDWRITING.

ONCE, when abroad, I met a certain well-known Colonial bishop, and asked him why he had failed to keep his engagement to take tea with us a few days previously. He replied that he had searched in vain for the house, but could not find it.

"But, Bishop," I said, "you yourself wrote down the address."

"True," said the bishop, "but I could not read my own writing."

That is an extreme instance of illegibility; for a man can generally decipher his own scrawl, however bad, even if his friends cannot. Typescript, instead of manuscript, has a great advantage in a case like this, but then the personal touch seems somehow missing, and we cannot gather much idea of the nature of our correspondent unless, of course, he is otherwise known to us. Even in a typewritten letter, however, the writer usually signs his name, and it is in the signature chiefly that the writer betrays himself. It was remarked by Lavater that the more he compared different handwritings, the more he was convinced that handwriting was the expression of the character of him who wrote. "Each nation has its national character of writing, as the physiognomy of each people expresses the most salient points of character in the nation." We can easily recognise the practical, matter of fact writing of the German, and the finer, more flowing lines of the Italian or Frenchman, with, it must be said, an often exaggerated number of flourishes.

At Christmas time I received several letters from Canadian friends, of different ages, and positions in life, yet there was a remarkable uniformity in the writing. Was it, I wondered, because the writers were all cast in the same mould? However that may be, in our own country there are infinite varieties of writing, and even in the same individual it will vary from time to time, according to varying circumstances. Yet many of the same characteristics that appear in the unformed hand of the young man will re-appear as he reaches manhood, and continue even when he has reached old age. And as he advances in his career, or takes up fresh interests in life, these changes will be indicated by slight differences, though in the main the writing keeps its general features.

It must be acknowledged, however, that our changing moods are almost always reflected in our signatures; for instance, if we are in particularly good spirits the tendency of the letters and lines will be upward, whereas if we are either physically or mentally depressed this will manifest itself in a downward trend. The signature gives us the present state of the mind, and also embodies the part as well, seeing that its peculiarities are the result of the habits of years, during which there has been a continual repetition of the same forms.

There are certainly distinctive styles of writing used by men in the various professions, and we can often make a shrewd guess as to what a person is by the style of his writing. Artists and others to whom the sense of beauty makes a strong appeal, usually have heavy down-strokes and plenty of rounded curves, all denoting imagination. Actresses have, in addition, the flourish beneath the signature which indicates love of admiration. The short, thick bar which Ellen Terry used beneath her name is that showing a very strong will; an angular form to the letters is another sign of strong will, as is also a bludgeon-like crossing of the "t."

Generosity is shown by a writing in which there are long, flowing and rounded curves to all the terminals, and in which the lines and the words are placed far apart; the up-strokes and down-strokes are long and the letters are well finished off, while the capitals are large and flowing. The signs for candour are much the same as for generosity, the letters being well-formed and open, instead of cramped and terminating abruptly, which indicates a parsimonious and secretive disposition.

To my mind, a person's handwriting need not necessarily be pretty, but in order to be pleasing it must exhibit the specific signs of generosity, an even temperament and a candid disposition.

A. P. W.

TIME-SAVING.

TIME is a very precious commodity to the woman who has to do her own housework, and all methods which economise in this direction are, therefore, of importance to her.

A time-taking task in the ordinary way is the cleaning of the pots and pans. It involves many processes, i.e., first scraping, then scouring and finally cleaning—iron pans in one way, enamel in another, and aluminium in yet a third! All the scouring, cleaning and polishing can, however, be accomplished quickly and in one process by the employment of steel wool.

A wad of No. 1 grade wool is best for cleaning all types of pots and pans. The inside and outside of the pans can be made spick and span by rubbing with a pad of this wool. After use the steel wool should be rinsed under the tap and hung up to dry, and will last for some time if cared for in this way.

Yet another short cut consists of rubbing the brass after polishing with a soft duster, upon which is the veriest suspicion of vaseline. This treatment will prevent tarnishing for days, and will make the polishing of brass a twice-a-week task instead of an every-day one.

Much time is also spent in polishing furniture and floors. According to the usual method, cream or polish is rubbed on to the wood, and then much time and vigour is spent in rubbing it off again. The weakness of this method lies in the fact that it is almost impossible to so regulate the amount of polish that just enough and no more is used.

The "short cut" method is much more satisfactory. It consists of using a charged polishing cloth. To prepare this, place three tablespoonfuls of furniture cream into a glass jar and immediately pour it out again. A certain amount will cling to the sides of the jar and this is all that is necessary. Place a square of velveteen or chamois leather in the jar, and leave it there for two or three days.

By this time the material will have absorbed the residue polish, and become just sufficiently charged to do its work. Furniture rubbed with this cloth will receive just enough polish, and not one particle too much. There is, therefore, no time and labour lost in rubbing off superfluous polish.

MARY GWYNNE HOWELL.

A FEW HINTS.

Porcelain Enamelled Baths. — An easy method of removing the line of soap, and that always appears after using a porcelain enamelled bath, is to sprinkle a little dry soap powder (not a scouring powder or any gritty substance) on to a piece of old Turkish towelling, and rub gently, when the marks will disappear. The slight roughness of the towelling aids the removal of dirt. Should the bath require more drastic treatment, a mixture of half turpentine and half water is excellent. Paraffin may be used, but the smell is objectionable.

* * *

Bronze Ornaments and Statuettes.—When cleaning these, avoid the use of water. Dust with a soft duster, using a brush, if necessary, for the ornamental parts. If the bronze requires further cleaning, wash over with stale beer, using a small sponge; allow to dry, and polish with a chamois leather.

* * *

Knitting Socks.—It is a good plan when working the heel and toe to knit in some linen thread along with the wool. This will strengthen the parts where holes are most likely to occur, and the socks will last twice as long.

* * *

Washing Ebony Brushes.—First rub the wood thoroughly with vaseline. This will prevent the ammonia, used in the washing water, from spoiling the ebony. The vaseline may be rubbed off afterwards with a dry duster, and the wood will be beautifully polished. Do not use too much vaseline.

* * *

Make Your Flowers Last.—Drooping flowers may often be revived by plunging the stems into boiling water. When the water is cold, cut a small piece off the stems, and arrange the flowers in fresh cold water.

Even a fern can often be restored to freshness by standing the pot in hot water, and letting it remain till the water is cool. If a piece of charcoal or camphor is added to the water in which the flowers stand, it will help to preserve their freshness. Salt is also good, especially for roses.

A drop or two of melted wax, dropped into the calyx of tulips will keep them from opening too quickly.

PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

BIRMINGHAM, Tuesday.—Improved supplies of pigs, with trade only moderate, and values tending easier. Sizeable bacons 16/6, choice lots 17/- per score dead weight; cutters 14/6 and 15/- to 16/6; sows 11/-, and occasionally 12/-.

LEEDS, Tuesday.—Smaller supply of sheep and cattle. No change in prices. On offer—332 beasts at 9d. to 11d.; 1,456 sheep at 1/4 to 1/6; ewes 11d. to 1/-, tups 9d. to 10d., lambs 1/7 to 1/8. No dairy cows or pigs.

SALFORD, Tuesday.—Nine hundred beasts met slow trade, but better demand for lambs. Welsh lambs made 1/7, Irish 1/5, small sheep 1/4 to 1/5, ewes up 1/-. Cattle up to 10½d. Dairy cows up to £38 each.

GRAIN.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Tuesday.—WHEAT—Cargos market displayed firm features, with Canadian sorts the turn dearer, but business made quiet progress. No. 1 Northern Manitoba September sellers 59/-, October-November 58/-, No. 2 hard winter October 54/3, choice white Karachi October 56/3, Rosafe (63½lbs.) September 57/9, Barusso (63½lbs.) do. 54/6. Parcels firmer for Canadian, but other descriptions quiet; No. 1 Northern Manitoba October-November sold 56/-, No. 2 hard winter September sellers 53/-, choice white Karachi afloat, per Frankenfels sold 56/3, Rosafe (63½lbs.) September sellers 56/9 per 480lbs. MAIZE—Cargoes steady, with a moderate demand. Steamer 6,000 tons Plate October-November sold 42/-, steamers afloat sellers 41/6 to 41/9, as to position loading 42/-, November-December 42/9, December-January 43/6. Parcels quiet, and rather easier; Plate September-October sold 41/-, October-November 41/6 to 41/4½, November-December 42/1½, December-January 42/6 per 480lbs. BARLEY firmly held. Cargoes of Karachi September-October quoted 43/-, Morocco August-September 39/6. Parcels quiet, and held for full recent rates. OATS firm, but quiet. Plate f.a.q. afloat quoted 25/9, September-October 26/3 per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—With higher quotations from America and the Argentine and continued unfavourable weather in the latter and this country, forward deliveries of wheat here showed a liberal advance at the outset, and further improved on setback in sterling rates of exchange, but late afternoon cables were disappointing and prevented the market finishing at best. C.i.f. parcels No. 1 Manitoba Oct.-Nov. sold at 55/7½, No. 2 Sept. 25 56/3, No. 2 hard winter due 51/4½ to 51/6, Sept. 51/9, Oct. 52/4½; Australian afloat (bags) 57/- to 58/-, bulk 56/6, Dec.-Jan. 55/6; choice white Karachi afloat 55/-, Rosario Santa Fe due 54/-, Baril 52/- per qr. C.i.f. parcels MAIZE arrived sold at 41/3, Nov.-Dec. 42/- per qr. FLOUR steady, unchanged.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—IRISH and DANISH BACON meets only a moderate demand at about late rates. Canadian Wiltshires quiet at the recent decline. Holders of American bacon here generally ask late prices, but with the demand still quiet some sellers show more disposition to make progress, Wiltshires being reduced to 98/- to 100/- and bellies 94/- to 98/- per cwt. HAMS freely offered on easier terms; long cut reduced to 90/- to 98/- and short cut 84/- to 94/-, but more inquiry at the decline is reported in some quarters. Shoulders quiet and in only moderate request at unchanged prices. LARD on the spot is attracting little attention, but with better c.i.f. quotations prices are raised 6d., prime steam now at 80/- to 81/- and American refined 82/6 to 84/- per cwt. CHEESE still quiet, the recent decline in values failing to stimulate buyers to any appreciable extent. BUTTER also quiet and easier in value; Danish now offered at 213/- to 215/- and Irish creameries 198/- to 202/- per cwt. EGGS steady at 17/- to 17/6 for Irish ordinary and 17/9 to 18/- best selected per 120; duck nominal.

REFINED LARD "FUTURES," Liverpool, Tuesday.—Overnight cables were easier, and with less inquiry here sellers were more in evidence during the early session, when prices gave way 3d. to 6d. per cwt.; Oct. sold at 82/6 to 82/3, and Nov. 83/3, Jan. 81/6, with Sept. and cash. Lard ex store quoted 81/6 to 81/- per cwt. With better afternoon cables values partially recovered, closing unchanged and to 3d. lower on the day; Oct. sold 82/6, Nov. 83/3 to 83/6, Jan. 81/9, with Sept. and cash ex store quoted 81/6 to 82/- per cwt. Weekly settlement prices—Sept. 81/9, Oct. 82/6, Nov. 83/6, Jan. 81/9 per cwt.

MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—BUTTER—The market ruled steady at the recent reductions in prices. Danish finest quoted 214/- to 216/-, Swedish and Finnish 210/- to 212/-, Irish creameries 202/- to 204/- per cwt. Bacon in quiet demand, with prices favouring buyers. Lard firm and dearer; English refined quoted 84/6 per cwt. Cheese—Lancashire and Cheshire finest met a steady sale at firm rates. New Zealand was easier at 95/- to 98/-, with Canadian quoted 91/- to 95/- per cwt. EGGS steady; Irish quoted 17/- to 17/6, Danish 17/10 to 19/6, and Continentals 12/6 to 15/- per 120.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Tuesday.—Home grown fruit and vegetables were in good quantity on this market and met an equal trade at following prices:—York cabbage 30/- to 50/- and 82/- per load, 3/- bag; swede turnips, 2/- to 2/6 cwt., tomatoes 4d. to 6½d. lb., beans 1/6 to 2/-, cauliflowers 1/- to 2/- and 3/- dozen, carrots 1/- to 1/2 and 1/4 bunch, scallions 6d. to 8d. bunch, lettuce 2d. to 8d. doz., beet 1/8 to 1/9 and 2/- doz., white turnips 6d. to 8d. and 10d. bunch, parsnips 1/6 to 1/8 and 2/- bundle, kidney beans 3/- box, broad 1/-; sprouts 4/9, parsley 6d. tray, mint 3d., peas 14/- to 17/- bag, 4/- float; thyme 3d. to 5d., marrows 1/- to 3/- and 4/- doz., celery 2/4 to 4/- bundle, apples 1/10 to 5/3 tray, Cooking apples 5/- to 7/6 half-bushel, others 3/- to 4/6; Victoria plums 8/- to 11/- float, seedlings 6/6 kish, 5/6 to 7/- strike, and 11/- to 12/6 and 14/6 per half-bushel; peaches 1/6 to 10/- doz., raspberries 1/4 punnet, cucumbers 1/6 to 6/- doz. In the foreign fruit section a fair trade was put through for the good arrival, viz., American apples 20/- to 22/- case, 35/- to 50/- barrel; South African oranges 30/- to 35/- case, Lemons 30/- to 35/- case, bananas 24/- to 30/- crate, onions 12/- to 13/- bag, pears 12/- to 15/- crate, 7/- to 14/- barrel; plums 14/- to 17/- half-bushel, grapes 25/- to 35/- barrel, 14/- to 18/- (Lisbon) per box; black grapes 1/- to 1/6 and 2/- lb., muscats 2/- to 2/10 lb., English tomatoes 6/- to 6/6 box.

DUBLIN POTATO, Tuesday.—Trade still remains dull for all classes of table tubers, and prices are unchanged at 7/- to 8/- per cwt. Supplies small, yet enough to satisfy the poor demand.

DUBLIN WHOLESALE POULTRY AND GAME (Halston street), Tuesday.—There was a good all-round supply on this market, and everything offering met with an equal demand. Prices ranged as follows:—Chickens 1/- to 1/3; large hens 2/- to 2/6 apiece, and others 1/- to 1/6 each; fat ducks 3/- to 4/- each, stores 1/6 to 2/6, old about 1/- each; geese alive 4/- to 5/- each; turkey poults live 1/6 per lb.; young grouse 3/6 to 4/- each; old 2/6 to 2/9; partridge, large and young 3/- each, old 1/6; hares 2/6 each; wild duck 2/6 each; snipe 6d. to 10d.; green plover 6d.; best fresh rabbits 1/- each, others 10d.

LITTLE GREEN EGG AND BUTTER, Tuesday.—A fair arrival of creams on market, and a corresponding demand. Finest quality creams 1/9½ to 1/10 per lb.; fair creams 1/9 to 1/9½ per lb. Farmers' butter not so plentiful; good average descriptions make 1/4½ to 1/6 per lb.; coarse grades 1/2 to 1/4, and fine separators 1/6½ to 1/7, but the latter figure is only secured occasionally. A slow trade for factory butter at 1/5 to 1/6½ per lb. The supply of eggs is equal to requirements. Demand good for strictly fresh hen eggs, but consignments generally are still very mixed, and cause endless trouble picking and re-packing, in view of the large proportion of stale and unsaleable eggs coming in. Best case lots of hens eggs make 17/3 to 18/6 per 120; selected qualities, requiring heavy picking, 20/- to 20/6 per 120; good seconds and ordinary hen eggs 15/6 to 16/9; country smalls 13/6 to 14/6 per 120. Very little duck eggs coming in; prices nominally 15/6 to 17/6, according to class.

CORK BUTTER, Tuesday.—The market continues steady. Creameries 198/- per cwt., choicest salted 196/-, farmers' fresh lumps 153/-.

DUBLIN FISH, Tuesday.—A good trade throughout for the fairly large arrival of fish on market, viz., 389 boxes on 4 steamers; 4 packages salmon, 15 chests lobsters, 60 boxes herrings, together with some fish from local and country hookers and wind-trawlers. Prices:—Salmon 1/8 to 2/3 lb., large lobsters 15/- to 20/-, seconds 10/- to 12/6, smalls 2/6 to 5/- lot of 13; large soles 40/- to 60/-, mediums 20/- to 30/-, and slips 5/- to 10/- 9 pairs, turbot 6d. to 22/-, brill 6d. to 5/- each, large plaice 6/- to 8/- per 4, medium 6/- to 8/- per 8. Box fish:—Plaice 40/- to 90/-, codfish 40/- to 70/-, whiting 12/- to 38/-, white soles 30/- to 45/-, congers 8/- to 15/-, haddock 30/- to 50/-, hake 35/- to 75/-, gurnard 5/- to 7/6, ray 12/- to 17/-, ling 15/- to 20/-; herrings averaged 12/6 to 25/- per box.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Tuesday.—Supply liberal. Demand fair. Scottish salmon, 34d. to 42d.; grilse, 36d. to 42d.; soles, 24d. to 28d.; slips, 17d. to 22d. per lb.; live eels, 16/- to 20/-; dead, 10/- to 12/-; draught: turbot, also brill, 13/- to 15/-; plaice, 10/- to 12/-; halibut, 10/- to 14/-; lemon soles, 10/- to 14/-; whitches, 4/- to 6/-; cod, 5/- to 6/-; hake, 6/-; haddocks, 3/6 to 5/- per stone.

MANCHESTER DEAD MEAT, Tuesday.—Generally steady. Home-killed beef—Best sides, 9d. to 9½d.; seconds, 8½d. to 9d. Mutton—Best hoggs, 1/1 to 1/2; lambs, 1/2 to 1/3; ewes, 10½d. to 11d.; calves, 5d. to 10d. Chilled beef lower—Hindquarters, 7d. to 7½d.; forequarters, 3½d. to 3¾d. Mutton—Wethers, 6½d. to 7½d.; ewes, 6½d. to 7d.; lambs, 11d. to 1/0½.

PRODUCE.

LONDON, Tuesday.—TEA—Ceylon auctions embraced 21,000 packages, which encountered a good demand at full to rather dearer prices. MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW (Smithfield), Tuesday.—Although the market was fairly well stocked with hay for the season, yet prime class hay was very scarce, and quickly sold up in early stages of business. Other descriptions, however, were slow to move, and prices worked out as follows:—1st crop 5/- to 5/6 cwt., 2nd and 3rd crop 4/3 to 4/9 cwt.; old meadow 3/- to 4/-; inferior descriptions to finish down to 2/6 cwt. New oaten straw was in good compass and realised around 5/- to 5/6 cwt., but would likely finish lower. Wheaten straw in small supply, and sold at 6/- to 6/3 for new, and 6/6 for old.

LONDON HAY AND STRAW, Tuesday.—Fair supplies on offer. Old best meadow hay, £5 5/- to £5 10/-; medium, £4 5/- to £4 15/-; inferior, £3 5/- to £3 15/-; best clover, £5 10/- to £6; best mixtures, sainfoin, £5 5/- to £5 15/-; best trussed wheat straw, 80/- to 90/-; barley, oat ditto, 80/- to 90/-, all per ton delivered.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Tuesday.—American moderate request. Brazilian quotations reduced 54 points. East Indian good business. Egyptian fair business, September, 13.44d.; November, 13.35d.; December, 13.33d.; January, 13.32d.; February, 13.33d. Sales—6,000. Imports—16,971 bales. Market quiet.

MANCHESTER TRADE, Tuesday.—The publication of the bureau condition report has had little influence on spinners' prices, and cloth sellers hold to their position in sympathy. Demand in this section of the market is quiet and irregular, and little beyond retail purchases noticeable for either leading or secondary foreign outlets. Hand-to-mouth buying reported in both American and Egyptian yarns.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN PLATES and QUICKSILVER unaltered.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Tuesday.

The demand for homeward tonnage is fairly well sustained, notwithstanding liberal bookings of late, and rates in the principal sections maintain a steady level. The River Plate section remains fully steady, with a moderate inquiry for grain carriers to Europe. North America continues to display fair interest in grain tonnage at full rates. Montreal to United Kingdom quoted 3/9 per qr., ditto Antwerp/Rotterdam 15½ cents., Hamburg 16 cents., Gulf of Mexico to U.K. 4/- per qr., and Continent 16½ cents per 100lbs. North Pacific grain charterers are also in the market, and 32/6 is repeatable for November loading to U.K.-Bordeaux-Hamburg. American coal quiet at about 3 dollars 15 cents. to Rio Janeiro. Canadian deals indicate 67/6 per standard to West Coast Britain. Case oil from Port Arthur to the Far East quotes 27 cents, with similar cargoes from New York to the River Plate 23 cents. Cuba sugar quiet at about 21/- for handy-size vessels, with 24/- San Domingo loading to U.K.-Continent prompt shipment. Eastern markets fairly steady, with a moderate demand from India and outports. Mediterranean and Bay remains quietly steady for mineral ore, but more interest is displayed in cottonseed from Alexandria at about 10/6 per 60 cubic feet to Hull, and 1/- extra London. Outward coal tends firmer on lighter tonnage offers and a slightly improved demand.

YESTERDAY'S LAW REPORTS.

VACATION SITTINGS.

A PRISONER'S STATE OF MIND.

Before Mr. Justice Murnaghan, sitting as Vacation Judge, an application was made by Mr. Lynn (instructed by Messrs. E. B. Maguire and Co.) on behalf of Susan Lynch for a writ of habeas corpus ad subjiciendum, directing the Governor of Maryborough Prison to have the body of her husband, John Lynch, before the Court.

Counsel moved on the affidavit of Susan Lynch, of 8 Temple lane, Dublin, which stated that her husband was arrested on the 1st June, 1923, charged with having participated in a burglary in the premises 21 Moore street, Dublin. He was tried in Green street Courthouse on the 11th July, 1923, and was found guilty by the jury. Part of the evidence against her husband was the uncorroborated testimony of a fellow prisoner, who was likewise found guilty of the same offence. Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy did not warn the jury against the danger of accepting the uncorroborated testimony of an alleged accomplice. On the 12th July, 1923, when her husband was brought up for sentence he was pronounced insane by the prison physician. Notwithstanding this pronouncement of insanity, Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy sentenced her husband to ten years' imprisonment.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan asked did counsel ask him to assume that the prisoner was insane.

Counsel replied that he asked his lordship to accept any statement in the affidavit as true. He added that he assumed that Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy—then the Recorder of Dublin—accepted what the doctor said, but interpreted it in this fashion: that the insanity was only temporary.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan said that he would give Mr. Lynn liberty to serve notice of motion for the first day of the next sittings. The matter had now lain up for fourteen months, and it was not one which he could decide on vacation.

INJURIES TO A CHILD.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES SETTLED.

In the case of Thomas Kelly, an infant, suing by his father, Edward Kelly, labourer, of 18 Ormond Market Cottages, Dublin, against Robert Grimshaw Browne, to recover damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff through the negligence of the defendant in the driving of a motor car, Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Mr. M. Good) applied on behalf of the defendant for an order making a consent to settlement a rule of court. The settlement provided that the proceedings in the action should be stayed on payment by the defendant to the plaintiff of £35 and 12 guineas costs, the amount to be lodged in court.

Mr. Lynn (instructed by Messrs. E. B. Maguire and Co.), who appeared for the plaintiff, said that he was satisfied with the settlement, although the amount was small.

In an affidavit, Edward Kelly, the father, asked to have the money paid out to him, to assist him in the maintenance of the child, as he was paying by instalments a debt which he had incurred for household necessaries while out of employment.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan granted the application made by Mr. Sainsbury, and directed that the money lodged in court should be invested for the benefit of the infant.

DIVISION OF KING'S COUNTY LANDS.

APPLICATION TO REGISTER.

In an action which had been instituted in the Chancery Division, in Mr. Justice Powell's Court, in which Patrick Mulrennan was plaintiff, and Patrick Dunne and twenty-five others, all farmers, of King's County, were defendants, Mr. W. G. Gleeson (instructed by Mr. James J. Moore) applied on behalf of the defendants for an order under the recent Land Settlement Act, 1924, staying the proceedings in the action for the purpose of enabling the defendants to register under that Act a decree made by Mr. Kevin O'Sheil, sitting as Dail Eireann Land Settlement Judge at Tullamore on the 29th September, 1920, for the division of specified lands in Croghan Hill and Ballybeg, King's County, amongst the defendants, who were in occupation.

It was stated that in the year 1919 the defendants, in order to comply with the Corn Production Act had sown 19¼ acres of oats and half an acre of potatoes. About a month or so afterwards the plaintiff purchased the lands of Ballybeg over the heads of the defendants, and in the following September and October, when the crops were ripe, the defendants came on the lands and removed the oats and potatoes that they had planted. Writs were issued against them claiming damages and seeking an injunction restraining them from further trespass. The action was not defended, as the defendants did not recognise Mr. Justice Powell's Court, and did not appear; and judgment was obtained against them for £198 7s. 7d. and costs. The judgment had been partially executed by the Sheriff, and the order now sought was for the purpose of preventing the Sheriff from executing the balance of the judgment pending the registration of the decree under the provisions of the Land Settlement Act, which would give it legal force and effect. The Land Settlement Act contained provisions enabling an order to be made in a case like this to stay proceedings in the High Court of Justice, where it was sought to enforce a decree of the Dail Land Courts.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan made an order staying the proceedings for a week to enable notice of motion for a further stay to be served on the plaintiff.

A CARPENTER'S INJURIES.

ACTION AGAINST DUBLIN FIRM.

In the case of Peelo v. Kidd, Ltd., Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Messrs. Noyk and O'Reilly) applied on behalf of the defendants for an order remitting the action for trial before the Circuit Court Judge. The action was brought by the plaintiff, Richard Peelo, of 6 Chapel avenue, Irishtown, Co. Dublin, carpenter, against Messrs. Kidd, Ltd., 45 Nassau street, Dublin, to recover damages for injuries caused, as he alleged, by the negligence of the defendant's servant in the management of a motor car in Grafton street on the 8th February last. The defendants denied negligence, and alleged that the plaintiff himself was guilty of negligence. Counsel contended that, even in the event of the plaintiff succeeding in his action, the damages that he would be entitled to would be within the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court Judge.

Mr. Roche (instructed by Messrs. Bradley and Son) opposed the motion on behalf of the plaintiff, on the grounds of the seriousness of the plaintiff's injuries, and on the grounds that it was not clear that the case was one in which the plaintiff would recover less than £300.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan said that it was very hard to know the precise line to follow in these applications to transfer cases, but in this case he was not satisfied that he should transfer it. He wished that the defendants would take the case to the Court of Appeal, so that some definite line would be laid down for the guidance of courts in future. He refused the motion with costs.

ACTION AGAINST DRAPERS.

TRANSFERRED TO DISTRICT COURT.

In the case of Mrs. Anne Macken, 24 Jane place, Dublin, against Denis Guiney, trading as Guiney and Co., 79 Talbot street, Dublin, drapers, Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Messrs. James L. Burke and Co.) applied on behalf of the defendant for an order to remit the action to the Circuit Court Judge.

The action was brought by the plaintiff to recover damages for alleged false imprisonment, malicious prosecution and slander.

Counsel said that the grounds for his application were that the defendant never charged the plaintiff with the commission of any offence, nor ever used any defamatory language about her. These facts were set out in an affidavit made by the defendant, who stated that he reported the loss of a lady's frock to the Detective Division of the Dublin Metropolitan Police. An officer of the department made inquiries into the case, and he believed that in the course of these inquiries the officer called on the plaintiff. He gave the police no instructions, nor did he interfere with their investigations in any way. The plaintiff was the wife of a quay labourer and had no means to pay his costs.

Mr. Felix Sherry (instructed by Mr. James Fagan), for the plaintiff, said that under the circumstances he could not oppose the application.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan made an order transferring the case to the Circuit Court Judge for Dublin.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1924.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

King's County Council and the County Board of Health have been dissolved by the Local Government Department.—(Page 6.)

Statistics issued yesterday by the American Consul in Belfast show that during the three months ended 30th June goods to the value of 7,513,188 dollars, equal to £1,692,159, were exported from Northern Ireland to the United States of America.—(Page 3.)

At Enniskillen yesterday the British members of Parliament who are touring the Northern border heard the claims of the Unionists and Nationalists of Fermanagh, stated by Sir Charles Falls and Mr. Cahir Healy, M.P., respectively.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN

At the Congress of the National Veterinary Medical Association in Aberdeen yesterday a proposal to register a new association, leaving out the word "Ireland" in the title, was negatived.—(Page 7.)

Mr. Hugh Evelyn White, a lecturer in Leeds University, shot himself yesterday on his way to an inquest which he had been ordered to attend into the death of Helen Nind, a music teacher, who poisoned herself.—(Page 6.)

At the inquest yesterday into the deaths of Albert Joshua and Irene Mercer, a servant, which occurred in a Battersea flat, the jury found that Joshua was murdered by Mercer, who committed suicide while insane.—(Page 5.)

ABROAD

Telegrams from Athens state that retired officers have gone to Yanonna to carry on propaganda, with the co-operation of the Consul of a foreign Power, for the institution of a separate State.—(Page 5.)

Shanghai will not become involved in the fighting for the Woosung ports. The rival leaders will respect the city's interests.—(Page 5.)

Hungary has expressed to the League of Nations its gratitude for the help given to the country in restoring its economic position.—(Page 5.)

Bolshevist influences in China are endeavouring to inflame anti-foreign feeling.—(Page 5.)

SPORTING

At Doncaster yesterday Daimyo won the Great Yorkshire Handicap.—(Page 8.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were steady, a feature being the renewed strength of Tea shares.—(Page 9.)

Money was not so plentiful, and loans overnight did not go below 3 p.c. The exchanges were weaker.—(Page 9.)

In Dublin there was big business in Guinness shares, the rise being 15-16 to 47 1-16. National Loan was sold down to 91, but closed unchanged at 92.—(Page 9.)

Burdens on Trade.

The new Free State tax of sixpence on all imported parcels—officially termed "the statistical tax"—has been in force now for a week, and we print to-day a statement which sets forth the attitude of the commercial community towards this latest impost. It is a bad tax. When it was introduced in April the Minister for Finance said that the main purpose of the sixpenny tax was to discourage retail trade across the Customs frontier either with Great Britain or with Northern Ireland, to save labour in the Statistical Department in Merrion street, and to give a stimulus to the distributing trade in the Free State. In fact, the only people whom it possibly can benefit are those middlemen whose activities in the Free State have been responsible so largely for the continuance of high prices. Under the old system a consumer in the Free State was able to deal directly with the big manufacturing-distributing firms in England. Now he must place his order with a local retailer, who, in turn, transmits it to the local wholesaler. The wholesaler buys in bulk from the English manufacturer, with the result that the man who formerly got his safety razor or his pair of socks direct at a very low price gets the same goods now via two middlemen, both of whom, naturally enough, take their profit out of the transaction. Whatever happens, the goods are bought in the long run from England. The sixpenny tax does not, and cannot, prevent cross-Channel trade in small goods; it merely has the effect of increasing their price and of introducing between producer and consumer a solid wedge of unnecessary middlemen.

Nobody wants this tax. The public is irritated by it. The business community declares that it is defeating its ostensible purpose; and, of course, it adds considerably to the already absurdly complicated system of classification in connection with the Customs frontier. As a revenue producer its value is likely to be negligible. It may bring a little more business to local distributors; but, when all is said and done, its chief result will be a further increase in the cost of living. Taxes of this kind are extremely annoying, but they have an even more serious aspect. From the political point of view they are very unwise. At this time men of good-will throughout Ireland are trying to discover common ground on which the foundations of a united Ireland can be laid by the Governments of the Free State and of Northern Ireland. The obvious duty of each Government is to do everything in its power to help this good work, or, at any rate, to refrain from any action which is likely to hinder it. The sixpenny "statistical" tax cannot but add to the growing mass of difficulties which litter the peacemakers' path. The people of Northern Ireland deal very extensively with British manufacturers and distributors. They are a business-like community, who believe in buying their goods in the best and cheapest market, and have no use for artificial restrictions on trade. What man of affairs would choose to become a citizen of a State in which prices are abnormally high, direct taxation is the heaviest in the world, and the trading relations between consumer and producer are hedged about with the most exasperating tangles of red tape?

The existence of a Customs wall between the Free State and the remainder of the British Isles is ridiculous; but it is a natural corollary of fiscal independence. The aim of everybody concerned, however, ought to be to make this barrier as harmless as possible, in order that it may not hamper the conduct of trade and the maintenance of the best relations between the Free State and her neighbours. We have been convinced from the very outset that free trade ought to be established between Britain—including Northern Ireland—and the Saorstat. From the consumers' point of view Mr. Blythe's experiments in Protection have been very unfortunate. Union with Northern Ireland never can be achieved on the basis of protective tariffs against the British Empire. Ulster, like the rest of Ireland, does virtually all its trade with Great Britain; and its people have enough sense to realise the elementary truth that their prosperity would be endangered gravely if they were forced to sell their goods in a free market while buying in a market in which tariffs and restrictions are jostling one another at every turn. It is high time that the business community in the Free State should assert itself and protest against the further "Balkanisation" of Irish trade. Serbs and Rumanians, Greeks and Albanians may amuse themselves by the invention of new tariffs every other week, but this country is supposed to have passed that stage in national development. What we need in the Free State is a policy of common-sense applied to economic affairs. The imposition of taxes for the mere sake of proving our fiscal freedom is simply stupid, and the "statistical" tax of sixpence on every imported parcel serves no useful purpose of any kind.

Milk and Middlemen.

Both parties to the dispute about milk prices in England are active. The National Farmers' Union convened a conference of dairy farmers which was held in London on Monday, and yesterday the Joint Committee of the National Federation of Dairymen's Associations met and decided to call a general meeting of the Federation for Friday. Forty-six counties were represented at the National Farmers' Union Conference, and representatives of many dairy co-operative societies also attended. The attitude of the producers throughout the country is one of complete confidence in their committee and of determination to give it every support. It has been decided that no contracts shall be signed by the producers until the existing deadlock is ended. Emergency arrangements were discussed for the distribution of milk after October 1st, if a settlement has not been reached by that date. Farmers' co-operative societies will be used mainly for this purpose, and the producers are prepared to improvise other means of distribution. The next move is clearly with the Dairymen's Federation. The farmers are united and resolute. At their conference on Monday they examined certain resolutions which had been submitted by the rival society and answered them in unequivocal fashion. While the producers are determined to stand firm in their demand for a greater share in the profits, there are some signs that the dairymen may yield, and it is reported that the largest firm of milk distributors in Essex has notified its acceptance of the price demanded by the Farmers' Union. Friday's meeting of the National Federation of Dairymen's Associations may show whether a basis of agreement can be found, or whether it is to be war to the knife on October 1st. Co-operation among dairy farmers in the different districts alone can make the system independent of the aid of the middleman. During the last twenty years the number of co-operative dairy societies in England has risen from seven to thirty-eight. In some districts, however, particularly in the South, the farmers have still to learn the essential lesson that mutual assistance is better than competition. Until this lesson has been learned thoroughly and has been applied, as in Denmark and Germany, there can be little hope of direct trade between the producers and the consumers. The elimination of the middleman would confer a benefit on both classes, and would strengthen the farmers in their fight for existence, which is becoming ever more difficult owing to increased foreign competition and the high cost of labour and cattle-food. The findings of the Marquis of Linlithgow's Committee showed that milk-producers receive a smaller proportion of profits than is gained by growers of fruit or vegetables. In this country the position is the same, and here agriculture is the principal industry and the chief source of the nation's wealth. The outcome of the milk dispute in England, therefore, will be watched with great interest by Irish farmers. In both countries the near future ought to bring a welcome improvement in methods of distribution.

A Revolt Against Bolshevism.

Georgia has risen against the Bolsheviks, and the National Government has asked the British Prime Minister to intervene and to check the Moscow Government's bloody measures of repression. The Georgians are a gallant little race, more highly civilised than any other people of the Near East. Their country, which is about as large as Wales, is fertile and rich in minerals, but its importance lies in its position. The principal part of Trans-Caucasia, it now includes the port of Batum on the Black Sea, and strategically it commands the territory lying between Russia on the one side of the Caucasus, and Asia Minor and Persia on the other. In the eighteenth century Georgia was an independent kingdom in alliance with Russia, but Tsarist Russia broke the treaties which guaranteed Georgian freedom, and made of Georgia a Russian province. The dissolution of the Russian Empire brought liberation to a race that never had ceased to struggle for the maintenance of its national being. The Peace Conference defined the frontiers of the Georgian Republic, and in the two years which followed Georgia progressed rapidly. Then the Bolsheviks set themselves to the subversion of the little State. Risings in favour of Soviet government were organised, and finally, in 1921, a Georgian Soviet Republic, dependent on Russia, was declared. The Tsars were not more anxious than the Bolsheviks to hold Batum and command the land-bridge from Russia to the Near East. For three years Georgia has endured the Bolshevist domination, but now it has risen afresh, demonstrating to the world the value of the Soviet's pretences of sympathy with the aspirations of little peoples.

The English Temper.

The eminent Czech dramatist, M. Karel Capek, has been touring Britain, and has described his impressions to the Prague Correspondent of the Morning Post. He was charmed by the scenery of Devon, Wales, Cumberland and Scotland; but London, with its multitudinous mechanical activities, oppressed the creator of the "Robots." The underground railways seemed to him a very Inferno, and the omnibus system an interminable lumbering through a labyrinth of brick. He thought poorly of the contemporary English drama, and considered that the acting was disproportionately good. He was astonished that the theatre should exist and thrive without subsidy, and thought that a State theatre would enable plays of a better standard to be represented. What won his complete approval was the good humour of the English people. He declared that he could not "get near" English folk; they were affable, but not familiar. The conversation was of external things, not of their inner sentiments. Real feelings are often sad and unpleasant, "and as these are never spread abroad in England, each person has only his own to deal with, and has the happy illusion that the rest of the world lives in the cheerful exterior he sees and helps to create." This is a penetrating judgment of the English temperament. English people lack the exuberance of manner which is seen in more volatile races, and their cordiality is not spectacular; yet in no country, perhaps, is there a steadier cheerfulness than in England. John Bull is not introspective, and he comes more happily through his troubles than his more nervous neighbours because, even in the worst of times, he hopes on, instead of pitying himself. In Ireland we may well say, as M. Capek says in Bohemia, "we have much to learn from the English."

DUBLIN AND PARIS.

OPEN-AIR CAFES.

FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, September 6th.

The majority of Dublin people can be divided into two classes—those who think that their city is the hub of the universe and those who consider it backward and "provincial." The former class is more in need of disillusionment than the latter, and, indeed, Irish visitors to France find that in many ways their capital city compares favourably with Paris. The French capital, for instance, is mainly lit by gas lamps, whereas Dublin and its suburbs are almost entirely lit by electricity. The news that the Wembley cowboys and cowgirls had arrived in Paris should remind disdainful inhabitants of Dublin that that city witnessed a Rodeo before Paris. The arrival of the Rodeo party occasioned great disappointment to a crowd which had assembled at Gare St. Lazare to watch their arrival. Instead of wearing their picturesque "cowboy" garb the party wore quiet, "civilised" clothes and passed out without attracting any attention. As a matter of fact, in the way of headgear many young Parisians can vie with the Rodeo sombrero, but it is doubtful if these followers of fashion will copy the loose and rather untidy cowboy garb.

The open-air café has always been regarded as a purely Continental institution, the reason most frequently urged against its adoption in the British Isles being that the climate is unsuitable. The falsity of this idea, however, has recently been proved in Paris, where numbers still sit outside the cafés in spite of inclement weather. Why does not some enterprising Dublin restaurant place tables and chairs under an awning and see the result of the experiment? Some new licensing laws would, of course, be necessary before these "cafés" could exactly resemble their Continental models. The craze for changing street names in Ireland is suffering a momentary lull. The recent history of the country offers a fruitful field of possible nomenclature if the example of Paris were to be followed. The Parisians have named some of their streets after dates memorable in their history—Rue du 4 Septembre and Rue du 9 Juillet, for instance. Dublin can boast of many events worthy of commemoration in this way—and many streets are worthy of the honour. This plan, if adopted, would have the advantage of simplifying history for future generations by fixing in their minds several important dates.

The artistic genius of the French people, which makes such establishments as Worth and Paquin famous in the world of fashion, shows itself in the latest style of motor-coach work. The new vogue is for bodies painted to resemble a Scottish tartan pattern. Previously the "striking" effect was sought for by the use of two vivid colours, but this new style allows of the introduction of three or even four colours. Motor cars are likely to add to the gaiety of the gay city. "Futurism," having found, if not a lasting place, at least a temporary one, in the world of painting, has now invaded the cinema. A film recently shown in Paris had backgrounds like stage scenery, which consisted mainly of straight lines, after the fantastic "futurist" mode. The sub-titles, which were presented in irregular white letters across patches of black on a blue background, were undoubtedly striking. When I asked the proprietor of the cinema where the picture was produced, he growled, "Germany!" And we were led to believe that we had seen the last of the Hun atrocities!

The big amateur swimming race down the Seine attracted comparatively less attention here than does the "Liffey swim" in Dublin, although the former is an international event and attracts competitors of both sexes. One reason for this was that rain fell continuously during the afternoon. Another reason, however, was that the spectacle of a swimmer in the Seine is nothing unusual, since many Parisians bathe in its waters in fine weather. Along the edge of the river are placed several swimming baths, which are usually well patronised. Dubliners can be thankful for their proximity to the sea and the possession of two fine indoor swimming baths, which obviate the necessity of bathing in the Liffey.

While Irish papers are loud in their praises of the success of the Aonach Tailteann, little notice has been taken here of the Games. The publicity agents were active long enough before the event, but efforts should have been made to put the results more prominently before the people of other countries. Every year the Olympic Games fall further from popular favour, and already pessimists are predicting that this year's meeting at Colombes will be the last. If their prophecy is fulfilled, the Tailteann Games might come to hold a very prominent place in international athletics.

DEATH OF THE RECTOR OF BARNET.

THE CHURCH AND INCURABLE DISEASE.

The Rev. William Manning, Rector of Barnet, died yesterday afternoon from cancer. When it became known that he was suffering from an incurable disease, he wrote to the Bishop of St. Alban's, asking for his lordship's views as to the proper attitude of the Church with regard to prayer in such cases. The Bishop, in the course of his reply, issued an appeal throughout his diocese for the united effort of prayer on behalf of the suffering clergyman. His lordship added that Canon Manning's illness was a challenge to the Church to pray for his recovery. Physical disease was no more the will of God than the social or moral disease which they called sin. After the Bishop of St. Albans appeal, daily celebrations of Holy Communion, with special prayers, were held in Barnet Church, and numerous members of the rector's congregation attended for silent prayer daily.

THE WINNIPEG RIFLES.

The King has approved of the Winnipeg Rifles being allied to the Rifle Brigade (Prince Consorts Own).

WORLD FLIERS AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.

The world fliers, who left New York at 9.35 this morning, were forced, owing to fog, to land at Aberdeen, seventy-one miles from here, but now have arrived here. President Coolidge had awaited them at the aviation field for several hours.—(Reuter.)

The number of persons on the registers of the English Employment Exchanges on the 1st of September was 1,162,700, or 13,622 more than that of the previous week.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The Duke and Duchess of York have arrived at Balmoral Castle, where they will spend some time with the King and Queen. It is again rumoured that the Duke and Duchess will eventually take up their residence in Marlborough House, which Queen Alexandra is placing at their disposal. It was offered to the Prince of Wales last year, but he preferred to retain his bachelor quarters in York House.

* * *

The Duchess of Abercorn, who has been in a nursing home at Broadstairs for several weeks, is now much better and hopes to leave to-morrow for Baronscourt. The Duke and Duchess of Northumberland will remain for some time longer at Alnwick Castle, where they recently entertained their tenantry at luncheon, and afterwards, accompanied by their sons, Earl Percy and Lord Hugh Percy, and their daughters, Lady Betty and Lady Diana Percy, attended the annual flower show at Alnwick.

The Earl and Countess of Southesk and Sir Lancelot Carnegie are among the Princess Royal's guests at Mar Lodge. Viscount Galwey's house party for Doncaster races includes the Marquis and Marchioness of Exeter, Colonel the Hon. George and Mrs. Monckton-Arundell, Colonel and the Hon. Mrs. Skeffington Smyth and Mrs. A. Whitaker. Lady Kathleen Pilkington is entertaining a large party at Chevet Park, Wakefield, including Lady Hambro, the Hon. Mrs. St. John Mildmay, Colonel and Major Thistlethwayte and Major and Mrs. Gordon Foster. Admiral Sir William Pakenham and Sir Richard Sykes are staying with Lady Sykes at Sledmore, near Malton.

The Earl of Enniskillen, who celebrates his forty-eighth birthday to-day, was formerly in the 7th Hussars, and for a time commanded the North Irish Horse. He served in the late war, was mentioned in despatches and received the C.M.G. He married Miss Irene Miller-Mundy, and they have three daughters. The heir presumptive is Lord Enniskillen's brother, the Hon. Galbraith Lowry Cole, who is married to the eldest daughter of the Right Hon. Gerald and Lady Betty Balfour.

Lord Blyth, who is eighty-three to-day, is a son of the late Mr. James Blyth, of Chelmsford, and was made a Baronet in 1895 and was raised to the peerage as Baron Blyth in 1907. He is actively connected with many important scientific and agricultural movements. He is Vice-President of the Society of Arts, the British Statistical Society and numerous agricultural societies, and, being deeply interested in the work of the Royal Commission on Tuberculosis, placed two of his farms at the disposal of the Government for ten years for the purpose of carrying on the scientific investigation of the disease. He married the daughter of the late Mr. William Mooney, of Clontarf; she died a good many years ago, leaving two sons and four daughters.

LONDON LETTER.

THE BOUNDARY ISSUE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

Sir James Craig, who has benefited greatly by his Norwegian cruise, is now expected at his Thames-side home on Thursday, and the meeting of the Cabinet of Northern Ireland will not be held until Tuesday next. It seems that the disposition in some quarters to believe that the Birkenhead letter may bring about a change in the attitude of Northern Ireland towards the Boundary Commission finds no support in Belfast. A warning has been issued that too much credence should not be attached to speculations as to the effect the letter is likely to have on Northern opinion. A statement issued by the Ulster Association says that until Sir James Craig has had an opportunity of consulting his colleagues in the Cabinet of Northern Ireland no official statement can be made on the effect of the letter.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, who will take charge of the Irish Bill in the House of Commons, should Parliament meet on September 30th, is expected to arrive at Southampton on his return from South Africa on the 28th. It is not supposed that Parliament will sit for longer than a Parliamentary week to dispose of the Bill, since it is so very short, and amendment will be impossible. A day may be given to the second reading and another to the Committee stage, while in political circles it is thought that one day ought to suffice for the discussion in the House of Lords. Probably Parliament will be able to rise on the evening of Friday, October 3rd.

A General Election.

In Liberal quarters a general election is not expected until after the opening of the first session of Parliament next year, when the Prime Minister may go to the country on a vote-catching programme, to be outlined in the Speech from the Throne. This speech probably will contain proposals that no Conservative and few Liberals would support, and consequently the Government will be defeated on the Address. This will give Mr. Macdonald his opportunity, and the electors will be told that, if they want the good things promised in the Speech, they must vote Socialist. The Political Correspondent of the Star is of the opinion to-night that the Russian Treaty will be left to the House of Commons to accept or refuse, and that thus a political crisis in the autumn will be avoided.

A German Invasion.

German manufacturers are beginning to send a legion of travellers to London, and in business circles it is thought that by the late autumn this country will begin to feel acutely the pinch of German competition. It seems that the Germans are prepared to undersell in almost every direction. In some quarters it is suggested that the number of unemployed in this country by Christmas will be nearer two millions than one, with a tremendous increase in the amount to be paid for doles. One great employer is of opinion that the political party to carry the country will be the party that can produce a statesman with the vision and the knowledge to show how we may get some return for the millions a year expended in paying doles. The Labour Party promised that it could do this, but its promises never have been kept.

The Empire Exhibition.

It is rumoured that some of the overseas Dominions are opposed to the re-opening of the Empire Exhibition next year, but this cannot be said of Australia; for Mr. C. S. Nathan, one of the Commissioners, to-day stated that in his opinion the possibilities of Wembley from the Dominion standpoint were only half realised and that the Exhibition should be re-opened next year to get the full benefit of the money and energy already spent. To close down this year would, he thinks, be commercially suicidal for the Dominions. Australia would in a very short time lose the advance which she has unquestionably made this year in the British market. The sales at the Australian Pavilion have exceeded all expectations, and the Exhibition has been of the greatest value in stirring the imagination of the people of Great Britain.

The wretched weather of the past summer has been a great disappointment to the many Orientals at the Empire Exhibition, as well as prejudicial to their health. A cold autumn cannot be faced, and within the next few days they will all be leaving for their homes. The Burmese will sail on Thursday, while the majority of the Gold Coast people will sail to-morrow. The contingent from Nigeria will leave on October 1st, but it is hoped that the hardier natives, including the gold-washers in the Gold Coast Pavilion, will be able to remain until the middle of next month. The Indians and the Chinese have made no arrangements as yet, but it seems certain that, if the present unfavourable weather continues, most of them will have to depart.

The Gondolas of Venice.

A few days ago it was stated that Venice was to be deprived of its gondolas, which were to be replaced by motor boats. The Mayor of Venice, however, says that the report is absolutely false. His statement will give satisfaction to all who love Venice; but it does not do away with the fact that the motor boat is already possessed of a goodly grip on the canals of the city. Many motor boats are privately owned, while a considerable number is plying for hire. The boats annoy the gondoliers because of the wash that they make and of the damage which they do by bumping and shaking their frail craft, and this alone is likely to reduce the number of gondolas. It seems also that time—once of so little account in old-world Venice—is now a different thing, and that the leisurely gondola will have to give place to a more speedy method of locomotion.

Reclamation.

A beginning has been made with the reclaiming of the Wash, the great tract of water off the coast of Norfolk, which is gradually being silted up. A start will be made with some four hundred acres of Crown lands at Wingland, and some fifty unemployed men will be given work through the local Labour Exchanges. More will be needed as the work develops. When the land has been redeemed and enclosed, it will be laid down for pasture for two years, and after that it is expected to be fit for crops. If the experiment proves successful the work will be extended considerably; for the value of the redeemed land is placed at £100 per acre, and there are many thousands of acres in the Wash.

Poison Gas in Peace-Time.

General Fries, the head of the American Chemical Warfare Service, steadily pursues his purpose of finding other than military uses for the toxic gases that first came into use in the late war. A most cheering account was recently published of the comforting effects produced by mild doses administered to one of the American Ministers of State who was suffering from asthma, or something of the sort. Most welcome of all is General Fries's desire to bring his gases to bear on the boll weevil, the pest which is so destructive to cotton crops. Not only has he arranged for co-operative research by the chemical staffs of certain State Departments, but he appeals to chemists in private practice to take up the case in the national interest, and he utilises the organisation of the American Chemical Society to acquaint chemists with the technical details of the problems to be solved.

NO BATTLE FOR SHANGHAI.

RIVAL LEADERS' ASSURANCES.

RUSSIAN INFLUENCES IN CHINA.

ANTI-FOREIGN SPIRIT ENCOURAGED.

Messages from Shanghai state that there is no fear whatever that the city will be involved in the fighting between the rival war lords. Barricades have been erected to keep out refugees, while measures have been taken by the authorities to prevent the influx of defeated and leaderless troops.

Anti-foreign elements in China are being inflamed by Bolshevist agencies in Canton. The Chinese diplomatic representative in Moscow has expressed the thanks of the Chinese people for Russia's opposition to foreign intervention in the present conflict.

BATTLE FOR THE FORTS.

SHANGHAI'S INTERESTS TO BE RESPECTED.

SHANGHAI, Tuesday.

I have just returned from a tour of the cordon surrounding the settlements. Barricades are being erected at the most exposed points to keep out refugees, and there is perfect liaison throughout. I wish to make it clear that anything in the nature of fear of an attack on Shanghai is simply non-existent. As between Lu-Yung-Hsiang and Chi-Haieh-Yuan, the Shanghai district is the prize for which they are contending, and both may be relied on to respect its integrity and interests to the utmost possible degree.

This, of course, in no way affects the broader issue respecting the iniquity of permitting such danger points as the Woosung forts and the Kiangnan arsenal to exist by the side of Asia's most important commercial centre, but as regards the present conflict, the only danger against which we must guard is a possible rush in of defeated and leaderless troops, and for this we are well prepared.—(The Times Correspondent.)

SHANGHAI, Tuesday.

According to news from Linko, the Chekiang forces have regained all the lost ground in this sector, and have commenced to dig trenches. Heavy rain stopped fighting on the main front this evening.—(Reuter.)

BOLSHEVIST PROPAGANDA.

"WARNING" TO THE POWERS.

HONG KONG, Tuesday.

Further evidence of Bolshevist influences in Canton is the appearance of a special English "humiliation day" supplement in a Canton journal commemorating the signing of the Boxer protocol.

Sun Yat-Sen, in an interview, describes the protocol as a charter of organised Imperialism that affects to discover ulterior motives in every beneficent foreign action He describes the proposed remissions of the Boxer indemnity as false magnanimity. The proposals he ascribes to the success of the Russian revolution, which warned the Powers to beware of Chinese Nationalism. He condemns foreign control of the maritime customs as merely an economic fetter designed to stifle Chinese industry.

The whole publication has a strong Bolshevist flavour, and is calculated to inflame anti-foreign feeling. It coincides significantly with the recent Moscow declamations.—(The Times Correspondent).

MOSCOW, Monday.

Litayo, the Chinese diplomatic representative in Moscow, has paid a visit to the Peoples' Commissariat for Foreign Affairs, in connection with the present situation in China. According to the Rosta Agency, he expressed the warm appreciation of the Chinese people for the attitude assumed by the Russian public regarding the fears of foreign intervention in China, which have been so widely expressed in the Russian Press. At the same time it is announced by the "Hands off China" Association that its members now number some tens of thousands.—(Reuter.)

DOMINION WOOL GROWERS.

HOW MARKING AFFECTS THE FLEECE.

An interesting discussion on sheep breeding and marking took place at a conference yesterday between the Bradford Chamber of Commerce and a number of wool producers of the Dominions now on a visit to England.

Mr. F. A. Akroyd, the President of the Chamber, attributed the deterioration of the New Zealand clip to the use of the Romney ram, contending that the Romney cross produced a wool which contained many irregular and dead fibres that would not take dye. He suggested to the New Zealand growers that they should try the Wensleydale ram, which had a very even fleece.

While agreeing that the criticism of Romney wool was justified, Mr. G. D. Pearce, New Zealand, said he thought that the Wensleydale would not be suitable, as its fleece, he believed, averaged about five pounds, against the Romney fleece of ten pounds.

Sir Henry Whitehead spoke of the deleterious effect of marking sheep with tar and red ruddle, and produced samples of a felt hat showing obvious signs of this practise.

Captain Edmund Ashworth, Bury Chamber of Commerce, said that if a Merino wool grower could send his clip to London with a guarantee that it was free from tar pitch and paint, there would be almost a riot to get hold of it.

A SOLDIER'S SUICIDE.

RIFLE SHOT THAT WAS NOT HEARD.

A remarkable fact was elicited at an inquest held at Aldershot yesterday on the body of Rifleman Ernest Wingrove, 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade, who was found dead in his bed in the barrack room at Aldershot. He had taken a loaded rifle into the bed, and wrapping the blankets round himself and the rifle, had pressed the trigger with his left big toe. Although there were twenty men sleeping in the room, two on either side of him, within thirty inches, no one heard the report of the rifle, which must have been muffled by the blankets. He was described as a bright, cheery, intelligent soldier, with associations in Canada. He left a letter, stating that he had lost faith in human nature. A verdict of suicide whilst of unsound mind was recorded.

INTERNATIONAL LAW.

PRINCIPLES OF GENERAL AVERAGE.

STOCKHOLM, Tuesday.

The most noteworthy feature of to-day's proceedings at the thirty-third Conference of the International Law Association was a special sitting of the General Average Committee, which has been preparing for the consideration of the Conference a draft embodying a revision of the York-Antwerp rules, and a declaration of the general principles applicable to general average. The transactions were opened by Sir Norman Hill, the chairman, who emphasised the desirability of having a uniform system, while admitting that there was opposition to such course. It is expected that the result of the Committee's deliberations will be known this week.—(Reuter.)

GREECE'S LATEST PERIL.

MOVEMENT FOR SEPARATE STATE.

FOREIGN CONSUL AND REACTIONARIES.

ATHENS, Tuesday.

The Eleutheron Benia this morning published a Yannina telegram, stating that a number of retired officers, whose names are given, have gone to Yannina, for the ostensible purpose of prospecting for minerals, but in reality to carry on propaganda, with the co-operation of the Consul of a Foreign Power, with a view to the institution of a separate State, to be composed of Northern and Southern Epirus and Corfu, with a member of the Glucksburg dynasty at its head.

The news was generally received with the utmost reserve.

This evening's Ethnos, however, quotes the Prime Minister, as stating that the Government has received similar information of reactionary movement, supported by foreign propaganda.

The Ethnos adds that M. Sofulis also states that the Comitadjis in Macedonia, who have been raising the question of autonomy, have also been approached by reactionaries.

The Government, says the Ethnos, will deal most severely with the reactionaries.—(Reuter.)

CHILEAN PRESIDENT.

HEAD OF THE MILITARY CABINET.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Tuesday.

President Alessandri has been succeeded by General Luis Altamirano, the head of the Military Cabinet, which assumed power on Friday night.

This is in accordance with the terms of the Constitution.

Senor Bello Codecido, Minister for Foreign Affairs, is taking up the Ministry of the Interior, which General Altamirano had assumed, while still retaining the Foreign portfolio.

The Military Council has granted the retiring President leave to go abroad.—(Reuter.)

CANADIAN GOLD.

SIR ROBERT CLOUGH'S PREDICTION.

TORONTO, Tuesday.

Sir Robert Clough, who has been visiting the Northern Ontario mining fields, in an interview to-day, said that he was convinced that the gold production of Ontario was bound to increase in the near future. If all the parties interested would only devote their energies to mining gold, and not let company promoters mine the public, British capitalists would then feel sure of a fair chance of a return on their investments, and would be disposed to take a larger share in the development of Canada's vast wealth. Everybody knows, said Sir Robert, the vast development of the bigger mines, but I was amazed at the development already carried out in some of the new districts.—(Reuter.)

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

NORTHERN FISHERIES QUESTION.

TYPHOON IN FORMOSA.

EIGHTEEN PERSONS KILLED.

TOKYO, Tuesday.

A typhoon caused enormous damage at the Port of Taihoku, in Formosa, on Saturday. Eighteen persons were killed and three hundred seriously injured. Three thousand six hundred houses were destroyed, and three thousand eight hundred were partly wrecked. Sixty small craft were sunk, and over one hundred bridges were destroyed.—(Times telegram.)

EMPIRE CONFERENCE.

SOUTH AFRICA TO BE REPRESENTED.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Tuesday.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, in the course of a speech here, said that the invitation sent by the British Government to the Union Government to participate in an Empire Conference in London had not been accepted, but he was glad to say that, as the result of his personal interview, General Hertzog, the Prime Minister, had declared that the Union would accept the invitation, and that South Africa would be represented at the Conference.

Mr. Thomas added that this decision was reached after he had made it clear to General Hertzog that there was no idea of the British Government's attempting to force its views upon the Dominions.

Mr. Thomas declared that, had he done nothing more, his visit to South Africa would have been more than justified.—(Reuter.)

SWISS ARMY MANŒUVRES.

APPLICATION OF LESSONS OF THE WAR.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Tuesday.

The Swiss Army has begun the first series of its grand manœuvres since 1911 within twenty miles of Geneva, where the League of Nations is concentrating its efforts on peace, disarmament and the prevention of all future wars. Military lessons, developments and inventions from the war are being brought into play for the first time by the Swiss troops, which are abandoning former tactics—bayonet charges and artillery firing—and substituting camouflage and guerilla movements which recent hostilities have induced.

Despite security pacts and mutual assistance treaties, the Swiss manœuvres reveal the fact that the General Staff is taking dispositions to protect the Federation against invasion in case of another Franco-German war or to safeguard its territory against any possible aggression. The important rôle assigned to aviation for observation purposes is solely to reconnoitre the enemy's position and to ensure the rapid concentration of troops on any of the three frontiers. Motor lorries are being used extensively.

The tactics employed by the Swiss forces consists of repelling any attempt to invade the country by holding the mountains and passes with infantry, machine guns and heavily-supported artillery, as the Austro-German invasion of Serbia demonstrated the need of heavy gunfire even when defending the most mountainous terrain.

Two Kilkenny dealers were, at Thomastown, fined £1 and costs each for working a horse while in an unfit state. The Magistrate said that some people appeared to be bereft of all feeling for dumb animals, and they deserved to be sent to prison. He would impose very severe penalties in such cases in future.

PRACTICAL WORK OF THE LEAGUE.

HUNGARY'S GRATITUDE

GENEVA, Tuesday.

The debate on the report of the work of the Council of the League of Nations since the last Assembly was resumed this morning. Count Apponyi, Hungary, addressed the delegates for about an hour and was much applauded. He commenced by expressing thanks to the Assembly for the assistance given to Hungary in her economic reconstruction, and especially Hungary's gratitude to Great Britain for her generous help in that direction.

Count Apponyi then referred to the two questions mentioned, the problem of minorities and that of the reduction of armaments. He sympathetically affirmed that until these important matters had been disposed of satisfactorily there could be no durable peace.

Dr. Lange, Norway, spoke on the subject of publicity regarding the activities of the League, and quoted Lord Cecil of Chelwood in favour of extending publicity. He urged the co-operation of international organisations with the League.

Mr. Arthur Henderson expressed his admiration of the variety of the work undertaken by the League. The League, he said, was breeding the spirit of co-operation among the nations. He urged that, not only the report of the activities of the International Court of Justice, but a report on the work of the International Labour Office should be submitted to the League.

He dwelt at length on labour and social problems, and concluded his speech, which was loudly applauded, by declaring that the conditions of justice in labour and social matters were absolutely indispensable to peace.

The debate was adjourned until to-morrow.—(Press Association Special Correspondent.)

COMMITTEE PROCEEDINGS.

ARMAMENT INVESTIGATIONS.

GENEVA, Tuesday.

The First Committee to-day heard a long statement by Sir Cecil Hurst, Britain, on the British amendment to Article 16 of the Covenant of the League, dealing with the resort to war of any member of the League. The matter was referred to a sub-committee for further examination.

In the matter of the Armenian refugees, on the report of Dr. Nansen, the Council decided to invite the interested Governments to give their official adhesion to the proposed certificates of identity, and referred to the Assembly the question of transferring relief work to the International Labour Office.

At the private sitting which followed the public meeting, the Council discussed the question of its right to make an investigation into the armaments of certain countries on the basis of the British proposal, with reference particularly to the treaties of the Trianon, St. Germain and Neuilly.

Replying to a request addressed to the Council by the Military Commission, the Council, on the proposal of Lord Parmoor, stipulated that the organisation appointed for this purpose should possess the same rights of investigation as were provided by the Versailles Treaty.

Monsignor Seipel, the Austrian Prime Minister, has arrived in Geneva with the Ministers of Foreign Affairs and Finance.—(Reuter.)

DROWNED AT REGATTA.

GUARDSMAN'S FALL FROM BOAT.

Although an excellent swimmer, Guardsman Price, 2nd Grenadier Guards, was drowned at Windsor yesterday. He was taking part in the battalion regatta, and, while reaching for a skull in the first race, his boat capsized in deep water. He was seen to come to the surface, and then suddenly disappear. Several guardsmen dived, but failed to find the body, and dragging followed. The regatta was abandoned.

ENGLISH BUILDING TRADE.

DISPUTE ABOUT WORKING HOURS.

At the close of the men's deliberations yesterday in London, on the difficulties which have again arisen in some parts of England regarding the interpretation of the hours section of the argument of August 22nd, which terminated the dispute, the Disputes Committee of the National Allied Building Trade, the employers replied to the published observations of Mr. Coppock, General Secretary of the Operatives' Federation. They quote Clause 3 of the terms of settlement, and the preceding joint circular on the subject, and declare that the position is as follows:—The national agreement confirming the Fraser award provides that forty-six and a half hours per week shall be worked in the summer time, the only variation allowed being that employers and operatives, in any town or area, if they so mutually agree, may maintain the forty-four hours week. If not, unquestionably forty-six and a half hours is the standard working week.

The statement insists that, as there have been two opportunities for adjusting the hours difficulty—at the end of June and August—nothing can now justify refusal to fulfil the exact conditions of the agreement.

SHORT TIME IN COTTON TRADE.

The Short Time Committee of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners, at a meeting in Manchester yesterday, decided that the time is inopportune for proposing any addition to the twenty-six and a quarter hours week, which is worked in the American cotton-spinning section. The position will be further considered a week hence, in view of a possible change, due to American crop reports.

"CLEANER JOURNALISM."

SENSE OF PROPORTION WANTED.

In his presidential address to the Institute of Journalists, at Margate yesterday, Mr. Frederic Peaker referred to the Institute's campaign for cleaner journalism. He said that, notwithstanding the improvement in newspapers, there was still wanting a sense of proportion. In reading some newspapers, one would be led to think that nothing happened in the world of any importance but the sordid dramas of the Courts. Let them not exaggerate the bad and minimise the good there was in the world. Journalism offered a greater opportunity than the pulpit.

FREEDOM OF DUNDEE

CONFERRED ON MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD.

Before a vast concourse of the citizens, Mr. Ramsay Macdonald yesterday received the Freedom of Dundee.

At the presentation ceremony in the Caird Hall, the Lord Provost High said that, whatever might be the outcome of the present Premiership, it could never be said of Mr. Macdonald that he mistook Statecraftiness for Statecraft. He had proved himself a good European and a patriotic Briton.

Replying, the Prime Minister said that they were all party men, and yet there was one aim and one aspiration that, politicians or no politicians, they must all hold in common, and that was to promote good-will amongst the nations, and to establish peace on earth. Peace, security, co-operation—what did they mean? No scheme could be produced but that the critical minds of men could prove to them beyond the possibility of doubt that it could not work.

As long as opportunity is given me, he continued, I shall try to lay the foundations of peace. The cynical man is not a wise man. He is the lazy man, the man of no vision and no pride.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald motored from Dundee to Arbroath yesterday morning, and unveiled within the public library buildings a memorial to the late Mr. James W. Herald, a gifted Forfarshire artist.

THE SIXPENNY TAX.

HOW IT HITS FREE STATE TRADE.

A WEEK'S WORKING ANALYSED.

THE CONSUMER MAY HAVE TO PAY.

In order to understand the new sixpenny tax on imports (writes an important representative of commercial interests in Dublin) it is desirable to go back to the remarks made by Mr. Blythe on the 25th April when he was introducing his financial statement:—

"A statistical tax of 6d. per individual consignment is proposed. This tax, like the minimum charge of 2s. 6d. on small consignments of dutiable goods, is intended to discourage retail trade across the Customs frontier, to curtail the clerical and other labour at present involved for the Revenue Department and Statistical Section of the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, and to encourage retail distribution being carried out from within the Saorstat. I might add that a statistical tax is at present imposed in several countries. The tax will be imposed on imports by sea and rail, but domestic articles bought by householders across the land frontier will be excluded. The extent of the traffic in small parcels may be gathered from the fact that, according to figures for September last, 44.2 per cent. of the number of consignments imported by sea were under £10 in value; 45.2 per cent. of the number of consignments imported by rail were under £5 in value; and 55.4 per cent. of the number of consignments by road were under £3 in value. The total number of entries of £1 and under in value by road and sea was 13,780 for a single month. I may say that the extent to which imports are brought in in small parcels imposes a charge of almost £12,000 per annum, beyond what was anticipated, in connection with the compiling of our trade statistics. The small parcel of very little value involves practically the same labour right through as a consignment of a thousand times that value. It is difficult from every point of view, and it does seem to be a corollary of fiscal independence and the setting up of a separate Customs system that this retail trade should be discouraged as being inconvenient and expensive to the State."

NO CORDIAL WELCOME.

On the 15th May, during a discussion on the Report stage, Major Cooper moved an amendment to exempt "a parcel of books." He adduced a number of very practical reasons for such exemption, and was supported by Professor Thrift. For the general reason that almost any trade could claim similar exemption on similar grounds, the motion was withdrawn. In the course of his reply Mr. Blythe said:—"We do not regard it as desirable that we should depend on this business of having individuals sending very small quantities of goods outside the country." It was originally intended that the tax should come into force on the 1st July, but owing to the delay in passing the various financial resolutions and the necessity of creating machinery to deal with the tax it did not come into force until September 1st, and traders have had experience now of its operation for a week. Needless to say, it adds very seriously to the already complicated procedure entailed by the Customs barrier. It may be a matter of surprise, if the object of the tax is so praiseworthy, why, in business circles, there is so little welcome for it.

Mr. Blythe has described the traffic as caused by "individuals sending very small parcels of goods." In fact, it would appear that this is a very small part of the trade which is passing between the two countries. Consignments carried by the cross-Channel steamship companies are small consignments because our population is small. We export in large quantities, but we demand in return a very wide range of manufactured and partly manufactured commodities. The consumer presents to the retail trader a very varied and, sometimes, a very specialised demand. The trader aims at turning over his stock as rapidly as possible and reduces his risks of depreciation in bad stock, orders frequently and nowadays very largely direct from the manufacturer.

NO RETURN FOR EXPENSE.

The import lists contains five classes, forty groups and some 1,864 items. It is, therefore, easy to understand the complication involved, and the problem of making returns is very great. The charge is imposed by attaching a 6d. stamp in respect of every "description" of imported goods. A "description" may cover a parcel of 28 lbs. or 28 cwts. On the other hand, a particularly small parcel may contain goods coming under a large variety of "description," and in respect of each of which a 6d. stamp has to be affixed. Theoretically, we see, therefore, that the public are expected, as a result of this tax, to stop buying by post from across the water and to place their orders locally. The local shopkeeper, who has been buying direct from the manufacturer, is expected in future to rely on the local wholesaler, whose purchases from the manufacturer will be increased and will combine together the small purchases which it is Mr. Blythe's object to stop. What has happened so far is that the cost of 6d. is found by the merchant, whether wholesale or retail, to be levied in respect of all the goods he is now importing, and that means an immediate expense for which, certainly, at the moment, he can see no return.

The balance sheet for the retail trader has its entries at present all on the debit side. Except in cases where individual items and individual customers are concerned, he cannot pass on the charge, and then, indeed, he only does it with some friction. Dealing directly with manufacturers for the larger part of his business, he can see no profit or advantage in transferring his orders to a wholesaler, who is likely to want for the services he renders more than the 6d. which the trader wishes to avoid paying. Consequently he goes on paying on his consignment with an uncertain hope that the trade which, as Mr. Blythe estimates, passes his doors at present will, in due course, be diverted and yield a profit to compensate for his heavy outgoings in the form of 6d. statistical tax stamps.

WHOLESALER'S POSITION.

The wholesaler has, of course, no hope of trade to compensate him for the payment he is making on consignments if the retailer is not forced to come to him for goods. He is already dealing with manufacturers and finds himself paying an extra 6d. or more on every consignment, large or small. While he will certainly have a great many large consignments, he will often find that the elaborate description required by the import list involves him in several stamps on each. Many of his purchases are small, because his turnover, even as a wholesaler, is comparatively small owing to the variety of goods he handles. He has to hope that the profit on that small amount of business which at present passes his doors will repay him for his out-of-pocket losses in the form of 6d. stamps. At present he is decidedly sceptical as to the result. The manufacturer has to pay tax on all his consignments of raw material, some of them small, some of them large; but he has no way of recovering tax. For him it is additional expense, with no hope of recovery.

The consumer will pay 6d. more on his cross-Channel purchases if they continue. He may be driven to buy from the local shopkeeper, but he has an uneasy feeling in his mind that, somehow or other, the 6d. stamp is going to be passed on to him in the form of increased prices, and he sees no immediate or future advantage from the tax.

It is early to prophesy what will happen, but it is hard to conceive any change in the course of trade which will reduce the traffic to such an extent as to afford any relief from the present position. One very practical point arises from a discussion with traders, and that is the enormously complicated detail in the import goods classification. Can this not be simplified, at any rate, in respect of non-dutiable goods? If the classification were simplified the additional cost of taking out these statistics would be no longer necessary, and the tax could then be abolished.

DEATH OF FORMER LADY CHESS CHAMPION.

The death is announced, at the age of 48, of Mrs. Gertrude Alison Anderson, lady chess champion of England in 1909, 1912 and 1921.

INCHICORE STRIKE.

SIXTEEN MEN RESUME WORK.

The passenger and goods services of the Great Southern and Western Railway Company were carried on without interruption yesterday.

The position as regards the strike at Inchicore was not materially changed, but about sixteen more strikers resumed work. Pickets were on duty both there and at Kingsbridge, but there was no interference with traffic entering or leaving the premises.

An Irish Times Reporter was informed by a leading railway official that the management had clearly laid it down that one of the conditions on which any of the strikers could resume work was that they should work amicably with any men that the company had employed. This means that the company intends to retain the services of the 107 men who enabled them to carry on during the strike, and that when the dispute is over a corresponding number of the strikers must wait until vacancies occur before they receive employment. The rumour that the Inchicore works might be closed has no foundation.

The strikers and their families are now beginning to feel the pinch of want, and it is believed that many of the men are anxious to return to work.

The strike has injured the Port of Dublin, and has diverted traffic to southern ports. The Great Southern and Western Railway has not suffered by this, because it has received rates on a larger mileage on goods sent to the Port of Cork.

Some four or five carters employed by Messrs. Wallis returned to work yesterday morning, reducing the number of men now on strike to between sixty and seventy. The firm is concentrating more or less on Kingsbridge and the services there yesterday was virtually normal. The same applies to Westland Row Station of the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway Company. The services to the North Wall and Harcourt street Stations are still limited.

It is believed that the strike has run its course and that the men will return to work to-day.

SUICIDE ON WAY TO INQUEST.

DRAMATIC SEQUEL TO LEEDS TRAGEDY.

There was a dramatic shooting affair in Leeds yesterday afternoon, as a sequel to the death of Miss Helen Mary Nind, the music teacher who was found poisoned in a Leeds hotel a few days ago. Mr. Hugh Gerald Evelyn White, M.A., a lecturer at the Leeds University, who had been subpœnaed to attend the inquest on Miss Nind, shot himself in a taxi-cab in Park square, Leeds, while on his way, presumably, to the inquest.

The Leeds police had got into touch with the Cambridge police, and had subpœnaed Mr. White, who was at Cambridge, to attend the the inquest yesterday afternoon. The tragedy happened within five minutes of his arrival in the city. He took a taxi-cab in City square, and told the driver to proceed to the house of Dr. Maxwell Telling, a well-known physician, but just before the taxi reached the house, the driver heard a sharp report, and, glancing back into the cab, saw Mr. White falling forward. He was taken to the Leeds Infirmary, where he died one and a half hours later. The news reached the Coroner as he was opening the inquest on Miss Nind.

At the inquest into the death of Miss Nind, some light was thrown on the cause of her tragic death. Medical evidence showed that death was due to carbolic acid poisoning. Evidence was given by the police that several letters were found in the girl's room at the Great Northern Hotel, one of them being addressed to Mr. White. The Coroner, in alluding to this, said: "In fairness to the relatives of the girl, I must say that there is no suggestion of anything wrong in this letter. It is evidently a heart-broken letter, showing that the girl was unstrung. She says, 'Life is too miserable to go on. I trusted God to the very end.'

"Most painful," added the Coroner, "is a letter-card, which is unsigned, but I have no doubt that it was written by Mr. White, and, had he lived, I should have examined him about it.

The letter-card referred to was addressed to Miss Nind, and stated that the writer would inform the Exeter police of her threat to commit suicide.

Miss Ruth Mary Carlota Nind, a sister of the deceased woman, who is a nurse at Netley (Southampton) Hospital, deposed that she had not seen her sister since last April. She knew of no trouble that the girl had, and was not aware that she knew any man in Leeds.

A verdict of suicide during temporary insanity was returned.

Mr. H. G. Evelyn White was a Lecturer in Classics and Classical Archæology at Leeds University, and had done a great deal of work in the Far East and in Egypt. He was given leave of absence this year by the University authorities to undertake the direction of an archæological expedition in Egypt. For some eleven or twelve years he worked in Egypt for the Metropolitan Museum, New York. He was extremely well liked and popular with the University staff in Leeds.

BATTERSEA TRAGEDY.

MURDER AND SUICIDE WHILE INSANE.

At the inquest yesterday afternoon into the deaths of the two victims of the Battersea flat shooting affair the jury found that the man, Albert Michael Joshua, aged 54, of Great Cumberland place, was murdered by the domestic servant, Irene Victoria Maud Mercer, who then killed herself while in a state of unsound mind in consequence of Joshua's behaviour to her.

The Coroner read a letter found with a wedding ring in the flat. In this the dead girl, writing to her sister, asked for forgiveness for "my cowardly act," and went on to say that the time had come to divulge the secret that she had married "Basil" (Joshua) a year ago last June. He told her that he had divorced his wife, but had deceived her. She knew that he loved her, for he would never have taken that great risk, and since he had told her the truth she was afraid every day that someone was coming for him. She begged her sister to keep her marriage a secret, stated that "Basil" had destroyed the marriage lines and all the letters so that nobody would know, and added—"I feel sorry for his poor wife, but I am doing what I think best. It would cause much more scandal if it were found out and taken to court, and I could not bear it."

The police stated that they had been unable to trace any record of a marriage ceremony between the couple.

Mrs. Ella Joshua, widow of the deceased man, said that she had never heard of another woman, and never knew him to be called "Basil." There had never been any unhappiness between them.

Elsie Mercer, servant, of Bognor, sister of the dead girl, said that she knew the deceased man as "Basil Montague." Her sister was very upset when she found that he was married. She spoke of killing herself and him, and became depressed and miserable.

STORM IN BELFAST.

YACHTS DRIVEN ASHORE.

A storm arose suddenly in Belfast and district yesterday afternoon, and considerable damage was done to house property.

At Ballyholme, Bangor, the racing yacht, Vanessa, belonging to Messrs. Faulkner and Saunders, and the yacht, Mazurka (Mr. F. W. White), of the Royal Ulster "Dancing" Class, went ashore. The Laragh (Mr. G. C. Leper), of the Royal Ulster "Rivers" Class, got adrift from the moorings, but was captured before reaching the rocks and was berthed at Ballyholme jetty.

A large motor boat went ashore at Bangor. Another motor boat was seriously damaged on the rocks near the coastguard watchhouse.

ATTACK WITH A PITCHFORK.

Our Ballyconnell Correspondent states that an elderly man named Andrew Fee, Drumcullion, Fermanagh, while sitting at the fire in his home, was attacked by an unknown man with a grape or a pitchfork and badly injured. His assailant got away.

TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

SPAIN AND THE MOORS.

DIRECTORY'S SUPREME TEST.

The Times observes in a leading article:—The news from the Spanish zone in Morocco is worse than it has been for a long time past. There is war again in Morocco, real war, in which the Spanish Army is undergoing a severe trial. The old conflict between Spaniards and Moors, so rich in episodes of glory and disaster, has flamed up again in new conditions that suggest a strange mingling of past and present, of primitive instincts and modern methods of warfare. The Spanish troops are harassed by a pestilent climate, by the disheartening difficulties of an irregular hill country, by the lack of roads and the deficiency of transport, and by a bewildering lack of clear direction and plan.

At any rate, the Directory have taken the only decision that seemed to them possible in the circumstances. The general rising of the Riffis is a challenge that can hardly be evaded. For the present the plans of withdrawal have been abandoned. The situation is recognised as one of open war, in which the Spanish nation must make a determined effort to secure a victory. There is no disguising the fact that the Directory have assumed a very serious responsibility in taking this, perhaps inevitable, decision. The amazing difficulties of war in the Riff are notorious, and the multiplication of these difficulties imposes on the Spanish nation a very heavy burden. The whole political situation in Spain is complicated by the unending strain involved in the effort to control Morocco. The test has come again, and it has come in an acute form upon that new system of dictatorial government which is called the Directory. The Directory has done much good; it has now to stand the supreme test.

THE UNITED STATES PRESIDENCY.

MR. COOLIDGE'S POSITION.

The Times Washington Correspondent telegraphed last night:—On the basis of the returns now available, there is no reason to doubt that Mr. Ralph Brewster, Republican, will be the next Governor of Maine; that Mr. Bert Fernald, Republican Senator, will be re-elected, and that the representation of the State in Congress and in its own Legislature will be strongly Republican.

The old political proverb has it: "As Maine goes, so goes the country." But this year the result would be more correctly accepted as showing what has long since been admitted, that the Eastern States are safely for Mr. Coolidge. Mr. Coolidge is seen, now that Maine has voted, to be safe in the East, but his position in the Western States is far from secure. There Senator La Follette is showing strength, which for all their outward confidence is giving the Republican managers serious anxiety. As for Mr. Davis, the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, he cannot be said anywhere to have made a great impression, save in the South. Unless there are developments, which cannot as yet be predicted, the fight this year will be between Mr. Coolidge and Mr. La Follette, with the grave possibility that the President will be unable to secure a majority of votes, and that the election will accordingly have to be decided by the House of Representatives.

THE CHILEAN COUP.

PRESIDENT'S DEPARTURE.

In a message from Santiago yesterday, The Times Correspondent states:—The closest secrecy has been observed about the negotiations between the Military Council and the President, Senor Alessandri. All day yesterday the members of the new Cabinet showed extraordinary activity, attending in the afternoon the sessions of the Senate and of the Chamber of Deputies. Both Houses have passed all the measures proposed by the Council, such as the Budget and the loan to meet the deficit. Last night, after these laws were promulgated, Senor Alessandri offered his resignation, which the Military Council did not accept, suggesting that he had better leave the country for a time "on leave," while retaining his official position.

There are two strong currents of opinion for and against the wisdom of the President's departure but it is generally welcomed, so long as affairs are settled in a way which is not detrimental to the honour and prestige of the country.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

TEA SHARES ACTIVE.

A rather irregular tone prevailed in the Stock Markets yesterday, though prices again moved within narrow limits, states The Times. Business in the gilt-edged market was chiefly confined to a continuance of the steady, if small, investment demand, and prices again hardened. The predominating tendency of Foreign Government Bonds was dull, lower prices being quoted for French, German, Turkish, and Chinese Securities. There were, however, several exceptions, including Mexican issues and the Hungarian Loan. Brazilian and several other foreign Railway Stocks received support. The most active market was that for Tea Shares, a good business leaving prices generally higher. Continued firmness was shown by Brewery and Tobacco issues. Engineering Shares remained dull.

NORTHERN CABINET.

MEETING POSTPONED UNTIL NEXT TUESDAY.

The meeting of the Cabinet of Northern Ireland, which had been arranged for Thursday, in London, has been postponed until Tuesday next to meet the convenience of the Ministers. All the members of the Cabinet, with one exception, will cross for the conference.

The Ulster Association states:—"There seems to be a disposition in certain quarters to regard the Birkenhead letter as something which is likely to bring about a change in the attitude of Ulster towards a Boundary Commission. Until Sir James Craig has returned from his cruise to the Baltic, and has had an opportunity of consulting his colleagues in the Cabinet of Northern Ireland, too much credence should not be attached to speculations as to what effect, if any, the letter is likely to have on Ulster's attitude."

DEATH FROM ANTHRAX.

QUESTION OF A SHAVING BRUSH.

The inquest was resumed at Hull yesterday on the body of Joseph Taylor (aged 47), manufacturer's clerk, who died from anthrax.

His widow stated that when on holiday last month at Scarborough her husband purchased a shaving brush, and while shaving with it subsequently he cut the top off a pimple on his chin. The wound became inflamed a few days later, and he was ill when they returned home at the end of the fortnight's holiday. Medical aid was obtained and an operation was performed without success.

Medical evidence showed that death was due to anthrax, but the City Analyst said that he had been unable to detect any anthrax bacilli on the shaving brush. That did not negative the possibility of bacilli having been present in small numbers.

The jury found that death was due to anthrax, but expressed no opinion as to the source of the infection.

IRISH HORSES FOR POLAND.

The Polish Government have issued directions for the purchase of a further 500 horses in Northern Ireland, which are to be shipped by 1st October. Messrs. Robson, Ltd., Belfast, the well-known cattle salesmen and auctioneers, have been entrusted with this commission, which is the second of the kind that they have received from the Polish Government, a similar consignment having been despatched a few days ago.

HEARING BOTH SIDES.

BRITISH M.P.'s VISIT ENNISKILLEN.

RIVAL STATEMENTS.

FROM OUR REPORTER.

ENNISKILLEN, Tuesday.

A party of members of the British House of Commons on a tour of Northern Ireland to investigate the boundary question, came to Enniskillen this evening. The party consists of twenty members, who spent yesterday in Derry, and came on to the Fermanagh centre by way of Sion Mills, Pettigo, and other places, where the difficulties of the present boundary, and the dangers of some suggested alterations, were brought to their notice.

At Enniskillen they were permitted to use a room in the Town Hall for the purpose of conferences with representatives of various interests.

NATIONALISTS' CASE.

The conferences were conducted in private, but the text of a statement put forward by Mr. Cahir Healy, M.P., who attended with other Nationalist speakers, including some ex-Service men of the British Army, was issued by Mr. Healy.

The statement began with a declaration that the Nationalist people of Fermanagh merely asked to be allowed an exercise of those elementary rights which were the common heritage of all civilised communities, and which were intended to be safeguarded by Article XII. of the Irish Treaty. They had neither the wish nor the means to enforce their will upon those who might disagree with them.

When Sir James Craig declared, "What we have we will hold," he conveniently forgot the circumstances under which his Government came to be possessed of six counties. When the Act of 1920 was passed the present area of the Free State had no representation in the House of Commons. In that connection it was recalled that Mr. Lloyd George suggested on 22nd of December, 1919, that the area to be allocated to the Northern Government should be decided by county option, and it was clear that he then saw the injustice of severing the people of the Counties of Fermanagh and Tyrone from the Parliament of the Irish nation. Sir James refused to make any advance for the sake of Irish union, and Article XII. had had to be inserted.

That Article gave Sir James Craig and his friends an option, of which they took due advantage, but it also gave the people of Fermanagh a like option in relation to Northern Ireland. Their opponents wished to deny the Nationalists of Fermanagh the benefit of that option by coercing them to remain under an administration which made no effort to conceal its dislike of them.

The Counties of Fermanagh and Tyrone had at all times been the most peaceful of the six counties, as had been testified by Judges of Assizes in days when murder and arson were a daily occurrence in the City of Belfast. Indeed, the invariable rule had been in the North that the more Nationalist the county, the more peaceful it had been. In those circumstances, the reason for the detention for two and a half years of a large number of internees collected by the Northern Government in Fermanagh and Tyrone was purely political. Many men were now afraid to identify themselves openly with any active constitutional opposition to the Northern Government, knowing the fate of the 600 internees arrested in 1922.

Mr. Healy contrasted the position of the 34 per cent. Nationalists in Northern Ireland and that of 10 per cent. Conservatives, as he called them, in the Free State. In Northern Ireland Nationalists could not hold public meetings except under a police permit, whereas in the Free State the Orangemen of County Monaghan and elsewhere were free to assemble where and when they wished, without reference to anyone.

EX-SERVICE MEN.

The public moneys voted by Great Britain for the housing of ex-Service men had been allocated by the Northern Administration to the needs of men of one political section and religion. In Enniskillen, where Nationalist ex-Service men were in the majority, only two houses had gone to the majority, although some of the houses had been given to tenants who were not ex-soldiers at all.

Referring to the alleged gerrymandering of electoral areas in Fermanagh and Tyrone, Mr. Healy said that the Local Government areas had been so manipulated in Fermanagh, where, according to the last census, Nationalists possessed a majority of 7,644, that if they proceeded to the poll, 10,747 Nationalists could only elect six members to the County Council while 10,293 Unionists could elect 13. The result was achieved by expanding certain Nationalist divisions and contracting others. In the aggregate it would be found that 100 Unionist votes got the same representation as 225 Nationalists. The only argument given for this extraordinary manipulation of areas and figures was that the Unionists paid the greater part of the rates. The Police Force was recruited almost entirely on a sectarian basis.

"We are prepared to leave the issue to-day to the free decision of the people taken either by districts, union areas, or counties, as the Boundary Commission may decide, firmly relying upon the justice of our case."

UNIONISTS' CASE.

The visiting members of Parliament were subsequently entertained to dinner at the Town Hall by the local Unionists. The Right Hon. E. M. Archdale, M.P., presided.

In a statement of the local Unionists' attitude, Sir Charles Falls, referring to the Nationalist deputation, said that it was an open secret that the moderate Nationalists of Ulster did not want to go into the Free State. They were living in the Six County area in peace and safety, under a strong and just Government. Their taxes and cost of living were lower than in the Free State, and only a few extremists were keeping up the agitation.

When the Nationalist deputation came where were the Nationalist shopkeepers of the town? He could name nearly a hundred within a radius of 200 yards of that hall. Where were the substantial farmers, many of them living within half a mile of the town? Would they not walk that short distance to tell the visitors their grievances and beg to be relieved from a state of bondage? They had not come, because they had no grievances, and they desired to stay where they were.

It should not be thought that by handing over Tyrone and Fermanagh to the Free State that they would get rid of the Irish question. The ink would not be dry on the report of the Boundary Commission until the agitation would commence again to capture the remainder of Northern Ireland. The Republicans had said over and over again that they recognised no boundary but the sea; but the Loyalists of the North denied the right of any Government to drive British citizens out of the Empire. They would refuse to go. If the Free State tried to compel them they were prepared to fight.

COMMISSIONER FOR KING'S COUNTY.

COUNCIL AND BOARD OF HEALTH DISSOLVED.

SEQUEL TO RECENT INQUIRY.

It is officially announced that, following an inquiry into the performance of their duties by the King's County Council and the County Board of Health, the Minister for Local Government has dissolved these bodies and transferred their powers and duties temporarily to a Commissioner.

A covering letter sent to the Secretaries of the County Council and the County Board of Health with the dissolution order, gives the conclusions of the inspector, after consideration of the evidence given at the inquiry. In regard to the County Council, the Inspector found that the Secretary was not familiar with certain requirements of the Public Bodies Order, which prescribes certain dates and meetings for consideration of the estimates. Such neglect begets general laxity and confusion. The Council had failed properly to perform its duties in the matter of levying and collecting poor rate. Instructions to take definite steps to improve the collection were not heeded. There was no account for £1,599 of the ratepayers' money. The Council had neglected to supervise receipts and expenditure. The maintenance of public works and the proper regulation and control of the staff had been neglected.

The Board of Health had neglected several matters, notably reform with a view to economy. No improvements had been made to the County Home or Hospital. The Board had been careless in the matter of outdoor relief. Two irregular transactions are mentioned.

COMMISSIONER'S REPORT.

INEFFICIENT SUPERVISION.

The following is the text of the letter addressed to the Secretaries of the County Council and Board of Health:—

6th September, 1924.

A Chara,—I am instructed by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to state that he has received a report from his Inspector, Mr. S. McGrath, who conducted the recent Inquiry into the performance of their duties by the Offaly County Council and the County Board of Health. The conclusions of the Inspector, after careful consideration of the evidence given at the Inquiry, are as follow:—

COUNTY COUNCIL.

(1) A sufficient number of meetings of the Council appear to have been held, and the attendances were comparatively good.

(2) The requirements of the Public Bodies Order, which prescribe certain dates and meetings for the consideration of the Secretary's estimate and the determination of the rates, were never strictly complied with. The Secretary does not appear to be very familiar with these requirements, and stated that they had not been insisted on in the past. However that may be, I consider that neglect in matters such as these begets general laxity and confusion. The Secretary, too, had not familiarised himself with certain orders and regulations issued by the Minister.

(3) The County Council has failed to exercise with diligence and energy its duties in the matter of levying and collecting the poor rate for the services of the years 1922-23 and 1923-24. From the 13th September, 1923, to the 2nd July, 1924, no less than fifteen communications were addressed by the Ministry to the Council calling on them to take definite steps to improve the collection and to deal drastically with defaulting collectors and ratepayers. These communications were not heeded, neither were the reports of the deputy checkers or of the Secretary, showing that certain collectors were unsatisfactory, both in their attendance for checking, in the closing of their warrants, and in the keeping of their accounts. This continued neglect culminated in the disappearance of Collector Ravenhill, whose accounts (disclosed at the inquiry) show that his arrears to the 31st March last amounted to £3,681 12s. 7d., and, what is more serious, that he has failed to lodge or account for £1,599 of the ratepayers' money which he has collected. In a letter of the 13th September, 1923, the Ministry called on the Council to take drastic steps with this collector, and continued that request in subsequent letters, until they had to eventually issue a Sealed Order removing him from office. At the eleventh hour, when the Finance Committee recommended his suspension on the 24th May last, the Council, in accordance with its usual weak and vacillating policy, removed the suspension. No real case of excusing causes were advanced for the County Council under this heading.

(4) The Council has grossly neglected its duties of supervising receipts and expenditure of public moneys and of safeguarding public finances and recovering lawful demands and debts due to the County Fund.

(5) The maintenance of public works, more especially the county roads, has been neglected within the past two years.

(6) The Council failed to finance the subsidiary bodies at regular intervals in accordance with their lawful demands.

(7) In the matter of regulating, supervising and controlling its staff and workmen, the Council has shown itself to be impotent and neglectful, and has acted against the best interest of the ratepayers and of the common good.

COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH.

(1) As in the case of the County Council, a sufficient number of meetings was held, and the attendances were comparatively good.

(2) The Board of Health failed to perform its duties in not exercising its powers under the county scheme of dispensing with certain sub-committees which, to the Board's knowledge, were abusing the powers conferred on them by the original county scheme.

(3) The Board has failed to carry to completion certain matters arising out of the amalgamation scheme which were at the outset entirely entrusted to its charge.

(4) Entrusted with a scheme of reform with a view to economy, the Board has failed to achieve the objective with any marked success.

(5) Since the inception of amalgamation the Board has failed to carry out any improvements to the County Home or County Hospital.

(6) The discrepancy in the cost of the staff in the County Home and Hospital at the present day as compared with March, 1919, is not satisfactorily accounted for.

(7) The Board failed to exercise sufficient control over the expenditure on home assistance, which expenditure has been increasing to such an extent as to unduly burden the ratepayers and to sap the moral tone, spirit of work, and independence from those in the humbler walks of life in County Offaly.

(8) In the matter dealing with applications for home assistance and with general finance, the Board has been acting in an irregular, careless and slipshod manner.

(9) Finally, two irregular transactions transpired at the inquiry, which prove in themselves that the administration had become very lax. The pension which the Chairman of the Board was in receipt of was commuted into a bulk sum of £700, without sufficient authority. Another member of the Board secretly negotiated with the Registrar and Secretary and took out on loan from the institution seven tons of coal. No official record of that transaction was kept, nor even were receipts given. When the transaction was discovered in the course of the inquiry, five tons of coal had yet to be accounted for, and for the other two an exchange had been made of two loads of slack coal.

The Minister has given full consideration to the Inspector's report and the evidence adduced at the inquiry, and has decided that the County Council and the Board of Health should be dissolved.

I am accordingly to transmit the accompanying Order under Seal, dissolving these authorities, and transferring their powers and duties as and from the 4th instant eto Daithi Ua Caoimh.

The Chairman and other members of the Council and Board of Health should be notified accordingly.—Mise, le meas, (Signed) E. P. McCarron, Runaidhe.

THE NEW COMMISSIONER.

Mr. Daithi Ua Caoimh, who has been appointed Commissioner, entered the employ of the Cork County Council in 1905, and served that body for fifteen years. He later became an auditor of the Local Government Department.

FIREARMS IN A BAG.

POLICE SERGEANT'S DISCOVERY.

At the Athlone Court yesterday five young men named John and Michael Caulfield, Connaught street, Athlone; George and Francis Cosgrove, and James Fox were charged with the unlawful possession of firearms on the 21st August at Newtown Carbery, Co. Roscommon. The charge against the two Cosgroves and Fox was withdrawn, and the brothers Caulfield were charged with receiving and having three double-barrelled sporting guns and a quantity of sporting ammunition the property of Mr. M. H. Foy, pawnbroker and cycle agent, Athlone, from whose premises, it was alleged, they were stolen.

Superintendent Hunt, Athlone, prosecuted, and Mr. P. V. C. Murtagh, solicitor, defended.

Francis Cosgrove, replying to Superintendent Hunt, stated that at the request of John Caulfield he went to Newtown Carbery Bog, where, from a bunch of nettles beside a cowshed, Caulfield produced a bag containing 3 sporting guns. He sold one of them to the witness for £3, and gave him twenty-five cartridges with it. The accused wrapped the other two guns in a bag and replaced them in the nettles. The witness brought the gun home and gave it to his brother.

Sergeant Casey, Athlone, swore that he was concealed on the bog near the cowhouse and saw the accused, John Caulfield and Frank Cosgrove, at the hut. When they went away he found two guns in the nettles. Later, George and Frank Cosgrove, and James Fox, came to the shed, when the witness appeared and arrested them.

Edward Foy stated that Fox and Cosgrove returned him a gun which was one of those that had been stolen.

The Justice returned John Caulfield for trial, and refused informations in the case against his brother Michael.

OTHER CHARGES.

John and Michael Caulfield were further charged with being in possession, without lawful authority, of a Webley Scot automatic pistol, two envelopes of automatic pistol ammunition, an air gun, and forty-five rounds of revolver ammunition. They were also charged with being in possession of a bandolier containing .303 ammunition, a shot gun, and the stock of a Thompson gun.

His Worship expressed himself satisfied that the revolver and ammunition came out of Caulfield's yard. There was a very strong suspicion as to who it belonged to, but he could not act on suspicion. He dismissed both cases.

In the second case, after hearing the evidence of Sergeant Casey, who found the "butt" of the Thompson gun and the bandolier of ammunition in the cowhouse on the bog which John Caulfield had been observed to enter with Cosgrave. The District Justice sentenced John Caulfield to three months' imprisonment without hard labour, and dismissed the case against his brother, Michael.

BALLINASLOE ASYLUM STRIKE.

STAFF AGAIN ON DUTY.

Following the adjournment of a decision by the Committee of Management of Ballinasloe Mental Hospital, regarding the members of the staff, male and female, who were on strike, about fifty Civic Guards, who had been specially requisitioned for duty at the asylum, left Ballinasloe on Monday night.

There was much tension on Saturday, when the Civic Guards and the Military went to the institution. The gate porter, whose appointment was the cause of the strike, decided at midnight on Saturday to relinquish the post, and was escorted from the building by Civic Guards, after which the strikers entered the institution and resumed duty.

The Resident Medical Superintenent in his report to the Committee stated that patients were allowed out of their cells before the strike was declared. The attendants say that they left two attendants (male and female) in charge of the dangerous cases.

On the suggestion of the new Bishop of Clonfert, Dr. Dignan, the whole question was left over for a week.

DISTRICT COURTS.

THE NEW RULES ISSUED.

Rules of Court made by the Irish Free State Minister of Justice, under Part III. of the Enforcement of Law (Occasional Powers) Act, for the conduct of proceedings in the District Courts, were published yesterday.

The examination of debtors before the Justice of the district is a matter in respect of which procedure is prescribed.

On the application of the creditor, a debtor may be examined by the District Justice on a judgment obtained in the High Court or the County or Circuit Court, and failure on the debtor's part to meet instalment orders on such examination is punishable by imprisonment.

Where an application for an examination order has been refused by a District Justice, the creditor may, by obtaining a certificate of refusal, appeal to the Circuit Court. Power of appeal is also given to the debtor.

FUNERAL OF SIR ANDREW J. HORNE.

The funeral of the late Sir Andrew J. Horne, F.R.C.P.I., which took place yesterday to Glasnevin Cemetery, was attended by numerous sympathisers and friends, and the medical profession was very largely represented. Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated at the Church of St. Andrew, Westland Row.

The celebrant was the Very Rev. T. MacAvin, Administrator, assisted by the Rev. R. Fleming, C.C., deacon; and the Rev. T. Ryan, C.C., sub-deacon. The Rev. W. Landers, C.C., was the master of ceremonies. The music was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Louis O'Brien.

METHODIST CHURCH

DUBLIN DISTRICT SYNOD

The autumnal meeting of the Dublin Methodist District Synod was held in Sandymount Church yesterday. The Rev. James M. Alley, Chairman of the District, presided. The business was introduced by the Rev. Herbert H. Cornish, Secretary of the District Synod, who was assisted by the Rev. J. E. Glanville.

Nearly all the ministerial members were present with the following lay representatives:—Dr. H. G. Smith, Messrs. Robert Morgan, G. S. Thompson, A. M. Fullerton, James H. Cooke, Geo. Munro, Wm. R. Burgess, J. Robertson Coade, Geo. Brown, G. W. Lewis, Thomas Boyd, T. H. Downey, W. M. Forsyth, M. O'Toole, Henry F. Knee, Thomas St. J. Bagnall, E. S. Williams, J. Armstrong Brown, G. W. Dwyer, W. H. Elliott, R. W. Booth, A. H. Gibson, H. B. Hill, G. W. Dench, W. P. Campbell, H. W. Stevens, W. M. Elliott, and Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Philpot. Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. R. Lee Cole, B.D.; the Rev. P. E. Donovan, the Rev. Alex. Egan, the Rev. John E. Green, the Rev. John Saunderson, and Messrs. G. G. Luttrell and W. F. Hanna.

Letters of sympathy were sent to the relatives and friends of the late Mrs. Pease and of the late Mrs. John Parsons (Athlone). A message of congratulation was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Massey, Booterstown, on their golden wedding. Messages of sympathy in their illness were sent to the Rev. S. W. J. Nabney, the Rev. John Saunderson, and Mr. Wm. Blackburn.

The Chairman referred to the many hopeful features in connection with the work of the Methodist Church in Dublin and district, and extended a hearty welcome to the ministers recently appointed to the district.

In connection with the Home Missions, arrangements were made for the Anniversary Services, and the Rev. A. E. Carson, B.A., was appointed Deputation to Athlone, Portarlington, and Tullamore circuits; and the Rev. R. J. J. Teasey to Wicklow, Arklow, and Tinahely circuits.

It was reported that probably all the circuits on the district will pay their ministers at least the minimum stipends recommended by Conference. Arrangements are being made for the holding of a regular Service in Mullingar.

The Rev. W. T. Clarke was appointed Secretary of the Home Mission Committee. The following laymen are to act on this committee:—Messrs. R. W. Booth, G. Willoughby, M.A.; T. J. Rogers, W. M. Forsyth, C. H. Walker, T. Boyd, and G. W. Lewis. The Rev. Jas. A. Gordon was appointed secretary for Colportage, and Mr. G. W. Dwyer as treasurer. The Rev. W. J. Oliver was appointed organiser for open air work. The Rev. H. H. MacMahon was re-appointed secretary for Chapel Affairs and the following laymen are members of the committee:—Messrs. G. W. Dwyer, C. F. Beckett, T. H. Downey, R. Morgan, and H. B. Hill. Permission was given to Gorey to renovate the church.

The Rev. R. C. Roddie was re-appointed secretary for Education Affairs. Attention was called to the fact that the religious knowledge examination in national schools will in future take place in January, and that all schools under Methodist management are expected to take the course of study of the Temperance Education (Ireland) Board. It was resolved, in view of the shortage of Methodist national teachers, to request the General Education Fund to consider the possibility of giving financial assistance by a loan or otherwise to teachers in training.

The Rev. B. B. Morton, on resigning his position as Secretary for Foreign Missions, was heartily thanked for his services, and the Rev. W. L. Coade was appointed as his successor.

An interesting conversation took place, during which suggestions were made which, it is hoped, will add to the success of the anniversary services. On account of the mission to be conducted by Gipsy Smith in the Metropolitan Hall, Dublin, from March 7th to 23rd, 1925, it will be necessary to have the missionary anniversary somewhat later than usual.

Mr. W. M. Forsyth was appointed Secretary of the Supernumerary Ministers' Fund; and Messrs. J. H. Cooke, R. W. Booth, W. R. Burgess, A. M. Fullerton, R. C. Johnson, W. M. Elliott, R. Morgan, J. A. Brown, H. F. Knee, and C. H. Walkey members of the Committee.

The Rev. Dr. Carrothers was appointed Secretary for Work Among the Young, the Rev. R. J. J. Teasey, Temperance; and Mr. W. F. Hanna, Sunday Schools. Mr. W. H. Elliott was re-appointed Secretary for Local Preachers. There was an interesting discussion on the work of the lay preachers, in which reference was made to the necessity for securing recruits, and also for greater efficiency. Arrangements were made for securing an adequate observance of local preachers' Sunday. Careful inquiry was made as to sanitary inspection of manses.

At the afternoon session the proposals for Methodist union were carefully considered, and suggestions will be sent to the Conference Committee. A district sub-committee to deal further with this question, consisting of the Chairman and Secretary, the Rev. W. B. Lumley, the Rev. J. W. R. Campbell, M.A.; the Rev. J. A. Duke, B.A.; the Rev. R. L. Cole, B.D.; and Messrs. R. W. Booth, J. R. Coade, W. M. Elliott, and W. M. Forsyth, was appointed. The Rev. J. M. Alley was appointed representative on the Stationing Committee.

At the special conference for Christian workers thoughtful addresses were delivered by the Rev. R. J. J. Teasey on "Winning our Young People for Christ," and on "The Nonconformist Conscience" by Mr. F. Macdonald.

In the evening the opening ceremony of the Memorial Church Parlour and Minister's Room was held. There was a large attendance. The Rev. W. L. Coade, Superintendent of the Circuit, presided, and addresses were delivered by Mr. G. W. Dench (Circuit Steward), the Rev. B. E. Gentleman, the Rev. Dr. Park, and the Rev. J. M. Alley, who also performed the opening ceremony. Special music was rendered, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Hearty thanks were given to Mr. J. Robertson Coade, who had generously defrayed the whole cost of the church parlour as a memorial to his late wife, who was the original mover in the formation of the ladies' work meeting.

The members of the Synod were entertained to lunch in the school-room by the members of the Sandymount Church, who also provided tea for the representatives and visitors.

On the motion of the Rev. Henry Shire, seconded by Mr. Robert Morgan, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the local friends for their hospitality.

PUBLIC HEALTH IN RELATION TO FOOD.

An article on public health in relation to food appeared recently in the Grocer, which points out that the Ministry of Health is charged with the task of supervising the administration by the sanitary authorities of the law respecting the control and protection of the food supply.

In the annual report of the Ministry, which is just issued, it is stated in regard to baking powder:—"Acid calcium phosphate, widely used as a substitute for cream of tartar in baking powders, is well known to be subject to contamination with lead. Several samples examined in the Ministry's laboratory contained lead in amounts up to 100 parts per million. The presence of traces of arsenic in self-raising flour has been reported on several occasions." Several prosecutions and convictions have taken place in recent years, and it cannot be too highly impressed upon the public that purity in food is of the utmost value to health, and all purchasers of baking powder should see that they obtain nothing but the best. Borwick's Baking Powder has been on the market for over eighty years, and is guaranteed absolutely pure under the Food and Drugs Act. Users, therefore, can be sure that in buying and using it they can rely upon its purity and superior qualities.

THE INCOME TAX.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—On the 25th July the inspector of income tax requested me to send him one of my insurance policies for "my inspection." I did so a few days after this date, and asked the inspector to let me have the policy back by return post. The policy had not reached me on the 2nd September, when I again applied to the inspector for its return, but no notice has been taken of my application. Can any of your readers say how long I may expect this policy to be out of its lawful custody and why an official insurance receipt for annual payments would not satisfy the inspector?—Yours, etc.,

Thomas H. Tarleton.

MUNSTER.

CHILD KILLED BY LORRY.—An inquest was held at Listowel into the death of a five-year-old child of John Roche, labourer, Clieveragh, who died from injuries received by being knocked down by a motor lorry, driven by John McMahon. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, and exonerated McMahon.

ULSTER.

"CLEVER BIG WORDS."—Addressing a farmer who was giving evidence at Kingscourt, Co. Cavan, Sessions, the magistrate said that he should not use "clever big words." When the witness said that a man "varieted" his voice, the justice asked him where he got that word. "I learned it at school," said the witness. The Justice—Nobody else ever learned it at school.

FLOODED COUNTRYSIDE.—Many roads in the Ballindrait district of County Donegal are flooded, and farmers could not get to Strabane market. Crops cut during last week's fine spell have in some cases been washed away.

For lighting Kinsale by electricity during the next seven months a tender of £200 has been accepted by the Urban Council.

The Rev. John Humphreys has been elected Chairman of the Tullamore Urban Committee of Technical Instruction for the twentieth year in succession.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

BELFAST PLAY CENTRES.—Drumglass children's play centre, Lisburn road, Belfast, was officially opened by the Lady Mayoress yesterday afternoon. The ground was the gift of the late Mr. Henry Musgrave, who also bequeathed to the city the Musgrave Park at Balmoral. The Belfast Corporation has already opened two other play centres, and has in course of completion or contemplation four others.

TOURISTS AND DRINKING FACILITIES.—Portadown Chamber of Commerce has adopted the resolution of the Newry Chamber calling for an amendment of the Northern Licensing Act, which is said to be detrimental to tourist developments of the Six Counties and to the agricultural interests. The people who passed the Act were Belfast people, who only considered Belfast's conditions.

RATES ON SMALL HOUSES.—At the monthly meeting of the Portadown Trade Chamber a strong protest was made against the action of the Northern Ministry of Home Affairs in refusing the request of thirty Urban Councils that landlords should be made responsible for the rates on small houses. This was done simply because Belfast was not affected, and that the object was to have Belfast "top dog" in everything.

Oats grown at Dysart, Strabane, yielded 260 stoues of grain to the acre.

STOCKS CLOSED STRONG.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

Stocks opened strong. Operations by longs were resumed with confidence in connection with the Maine election results. Lower time money and higher sterling exchange were also factors in the advance. Investment buying and merger reports stimulated high-grade Railroads, which advanced 1 to 6 points, but Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul shares were sold in the last hour. The market closed strong. Government Bonds irregular; Railroad Bonds irregular. The day's sales amounted to 840,000 shares. Money on call closed steady at 2 p.c. bid and 2¼ p.c. asked. All business was done at 2 p.c. Sterling exchange steady; silver ⅛c. higher for foreign mined at 69.

The Utah Copper Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1 p.c.

MAIZE steady and unchanged. Receipts—Atlantic ports—To-day, 22,000 bushels; last year, 32,000; this season, 1,860,000; last season, 2,257,000. Clearances—To-day, 29,000; same day last year, nil; this season, 870,000; last season, 1,184,000. Sales for export—Nil.

The visible supply of wheat in Canada decreased 2,612,000 bushels on the week, and now totals 11,559,000 bushels.

LARD steady and unchanged to 5 points down.

FLOUR steady and unchanged.

RUBBER steady and unchanged to ⅛c. up. First latex crepe, 27½; smoked ribbed sheets, 27¼.

PETROLEUM steady and unchanged.

COFFEE opened irregular, 4 points up to 18 points down. Values weakened owing to easier Brazilian markets, selling by importers, New Orleans interests and commission houses, liquidation and the uncovering of stop loss orders. The market closed weak, 25 to 55 points down. Spot easy, ¼c. lower. Approximate days sales—48,000 bags. Future options—September, 16.15; October, 15.90; December, 15.30; March, 14.90; May, 14.45.

SUGAR.—Futures irregular, 3 points up to 4 points down. Centrifugal Cuban spot steady. Approximate day's sales—31,000 tons. Options—September, 4.18; December, 4.10; January, 3.68; March, 3.42; May, 3.49.

TALLOW steady and unchanged.

TIN steady, 12½ points lower.

IRON steady and unaltered.

ELECTROLYTIC COPPER steady.

KANSAS CITY.—Wheat steady, ½c. higher. No. 2 hard winter spot, 119½.

ST. LOUIS.—Wheat steady and unchanged. No. 2 red winter spot, 137.

MINNEAPOLIS.—Wheat firm, 1c. up. No. 1 Northern spring spot, 125½.

WINNIPEG.—Wheat opened steady, ⅛c. to ¼c. up, and closed easier, ½c. lower. Opening options—October, 130⅛; December, 126½. Closing options—October, 129; December, 125½. Oats steady and unchanged. Closing option—October, 57⅛.

COTTON opened firm at 12 to 18 points advance on firm cable advices, improvement in Wall street conditions, firmness at New Orleans and covering of shorts, but reacted later owing to bearish estimates on the movement, Southern selling, a favourable weather forecast, and the unsatisfactory spot situation. The market rallied again on adverse private crop accounts from Texas, buying by the trade, heavier exports and better Manchester advices, and although there was some late realising closed steady, 6 points down to 8 points up. Spot quiet at 10 points loss. New Orleans spot 24 points lower. Receipts—Atlantic ports, 31,000 bales; Gulf, 1,000; Pacific, nil. Exports—Great Britain, 22,000; Continent, 10,000; Japan, nil.

New York futures in last twenty seconds of trading:—September, lowest 23.35, highest 23.35; October, 23.52, 23.55; November, 23.25, 23.25; December, 23.06, 23.08; January, 23.05, 23.05; February, 23.18, 23.18; March, 23.30, 23.30; April, 23.42, 23.42; May, 23.55, 23.55; June, 23.30, 23.30; July, 23.08, 23.08. New Orleans futures in last minute of trading:—October, lowest 22.77, highest 22.87; January, 22.87, 22.87.

CHICAGO, Tuesday.

WHEAT opened firm, ⅛c. to ¼c. higher. Advances were scored in the early dealings owing to unfavourable European crop news, bullish cable advices and commission house buying; then a reaction set in, influenced by large receipts, bearish Buenos Aires cables, selling by cash houses, an expected favourable monthly Bureau report, a poor cash demand and in sympathy with lower outside markets. There was a rally later due to covering and rumours of export business, and the market closed steady, but ⅛c. down to unchanged. Spot steady. No. 2 hard winter spot, 123⅛; No. 3 hard winter spot, 122½. Futures—Opening options—September, 125½; December, 128⅛. Closing options—September, 122½; December, 127⅛; May, 134. Receipts—Western points—To-day, 3,399,000 bushels; same day last year, 1,674,000 bushels; this season, 151,059,000 bushels; last season, 116,453,000 bushels.

MAIZE opened firm at ⅜c. advance, and showed strength for a while on higher cash markets, unfavourable weather, covering of shorts, expectations of a bullish Bureau crop report, a better cash demand and outside support. Partial reactions followed, due to commission house selling, the fall in wheat and bear pressure, but the market rallied again on adverse crop reports and buying by Elevator interests, and closed firm, 1¼c. to 1⅛c. up. Spot No. 2 mixed, 120½. Futures—Opening options—September, 119; December, 113⅝. Closing options—September, 119½; December, 113⅞; May, 115½. Receipts—Western points—To-day, 753,000 bushels; same day last year, 839,000 bushels; this season, 42,262,000 bushels; last season, 44,823,000 bushels.

OATS irregular, ⅛c. lower to ⅛c. higher. Future closing options—September, 47½; December, 51⅛; May, 56.

PROVISIONS opened dull. Trading has been slow and without important feature, and the market closed dull, with lard 2½ to 5 points down and ribs unchanged to 7½ points lower. Lard—Closing options—September, 13.45; October, 13.40; January, 13.35. Ribs—Closing options—September, 11.75; October, 11.77½; January, unquoted.

BACON steady and unaltered.

HOGS firmer at 10 to 5 points advance. Receipts—Western Cities—To-day, 85,000; last year, 111,000. Chicago—To-day, 21,000; last year, 23,000. Receipts of hogs at fifteen principal Western centres, including Chicago, since the 1st of March, total 18,219,000, against 18,673,000 same season last year.

GOLF.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

YESTERDAY'S MATCHES.

MR. BRETHERTON DEFEATS DR. JOHNSON.

Three previous winners of the title and two others who figured in the semi-final rounds played in the third round of the Irish Open Amateur Championship at Dollymount yesterday. These were Mr. Carl Bretherton, Mr. D. Wilson Smyth and Mr. Alfred Lowe, the respective champions of 1919, 1921 and 1922, while Mr. C. Robertson and Mr. Joseph Gorry were the runners-up in 1920 and 1921. Again, as far back as 1910, Mr. J. F. Jameson won the National Championship, to which two years ago Mr. Ector Munn succeeded. They also were included in the thirty-two competitors yesterday, and the close of a most enjoyable day's golf found four former Irish champions in the fifth round, which will be decided to-day, Messrs. Bretherton, Lowe, Munn and Jameson. With such a strong quartette still fighting for the title, to say nothing of M. J. Dee, who is as brilliant a golfer as any of the four, the closing stages will be intensely interesting. In the semi-final round this evening there is certain to be more than one battle royal, and it is not unlikely that the final on Thursday will find two former holders of the title in opposition in Messrs. Lowe and Bretherton.

The conditions yesterday were such as to expose any weaknesses that existed in one's golfing armour, as it were. The turf, consequent on a lot more rain during the night, was much slower, but the real test was the wind. There was plenty of weight in the breeze all day. In the forenoon it swept across the links from St. Annes, and, veering round in the evening, it was almost dead against the players on the homeward journey. Dollymount, in fact, was a most difficult course yesterday, and some drenching showers added to the severity of what was a most excellent test of golfing skill.

The forenoon matches were remarkable for a series of big victories, for while four ended as far out as the 14th, others concluded abruptly on the 11th and 12th. Dr. Johnson's defeat of Mr. H. Babington was the heaviest sustained by any player since the meeting opened last week with the internationals and cup finals, and, as he and Mr. Bretherton were obviously on the top of their form—Mr. Bretherton won his morning match with Mr. Robertson by 6 and 5—the spectators in the afternoon concentrated on their fourth round match. Nor were they disappointed, for they witnessed a match than which the final is not likely to prove more interesting.

This excellent match went the full round, and, in spite the trying conditions, it was productive of a deal of very fine golf. Mr. Bretherton prevailed, and a very strong factor in his success was his splendid putting. He holed several very long ones, and no matter where he was on the green he laid his first putt up at the hole side, always making certain of getting down in 2. Dr. Johnson likewise putted beautifully, but he was not accurate in his long game, and on the way home a tendency to pull landed him in dire trouble more than once. Some of his recoveries, however, were executed with the skill of a master hand at golf—one in particular was a really brilliant effort. Driving to the 14th he pulled into a bunker, but with a magnificent shot he got beyond the flag. This hole was, indeed, a remarkable one, for with his long putt Dr. Johnson laid a stymie, which Mr. Bretherton negotiated beautifully with his putter, to prevent his rival from taking the lead for the first time in the match.

Following a half in 4 at the first Mr. Johnson, as the result of a fine tee shot, had a good chance of reaching the second green with his brassey, for Mr. Bretherton was short in two; but the Royal Dublin man cut his second and only halved it. He failed to carry the Alps, and Mr. Bretherton took the lead with a 4, lying on the lip of the hole with a lovely long putt. The 4th halved, the Handsworth golfer lost the next by slicing into heavy rough, but he went ahead again at the 7th, where Dr. Johnson was stymied with the other ball on the edge of the tin. It was a very near thing, the card almost touching the two balls. Dr. Johnson tried to loft it, but knocked his opponent's ball in for a 3. Mr. Bretherton retained his lead going to the 9th, Dr. Johnson being lucky to halve the 8th after finding the rough on the right with his drive and second, but they turned for home on level terms, Dr. Johnson halving a great putt for 3 at the green, which neither reached from the tee.

Dr. Johnson, however, did not hold his lead for long, for to the 10th he pulled his drive into an appallingly heavy lie, from which he could not recover, finding the rough again with his second. Still, Mr. Bretherton had to get down a difficult putt to win in 4. In rough once more off another pulled tee shot to the 11th, Dr. Johnson holed a tremendous downhill putt—one of the most difficult on the course—for a 4 to win the hole, but bunkered at the short 12th he again fell into arrear, Mr. Bretherton getting his 3. The Englishman was promptly deprived of his advantage, Dr Johnson winning the 13th, and then came the fireworks, already alluded to, at the 14th, where Mr. Bretherton got round a seemingly impossible stymie a foot or so from the holeside to save himself. On the 15th he sunk a great putt for a win in 4, but his approach won the succeeding hole in 4-5, Mr. Bretherton following a sliced tee shot pitching over the green. He, however, won the 17th to become dormy, and a half in 4 at the home hole left him the victor in a grand match.

That Mr. J. F. Jameson has regained something like his old time form was evidenced yesterday, as following his morning win by 2 and 1 over Mr. Dickenson he vanquished a sturdy match player in Mr. Gorry by the big margin of 5 and 4, this being one of the heaviest defeats ever sustained by the Kildare man. Playing superior golf, Mr. Jameson turned 2 up, and thereafter the issue was never in doubt. In such a heavy wind Mr. Manly was at a disadvantage against Mr. Munn, but he made a brave show all the way to the 16th. Mr. Munn had the better of it on the way out, turning with a lead of 2 holes. He was 3 up with 4 to go, and became dormy 3. Mr. Manly took the next two holes, and eventually Mr. Munn got down a good putt for 3 on the home green, for a win by 2 up.

Mr. Walter Carroll and Mr. R. McConnell had a good match to the 16th, where the Dundalk man qualified for the fifth round. On level terms at the 9th, Mr. Carroll won the next two holes. Mr. McConnell averted further disaster by holing a 10-yarder at the 12th, but his opponent failed with a putt of less than two feet at the 14th. A beautiful second shot to the 15th enabled Mr. Carroll to win this hole, for a lead of three, and a half at the 16th finished the match. Earlier in the day Mr. Charles Carroll had to retire after playing four holes with Mr. Hunter. On the previous afternoon he strained himself when driving, and, almost unable to swing a club, he gave the match to Mr. Hunter, who then put up such a fine fight against Mr. Dee that he brought the latter to the home green. Mr. Spiller played steady golf against Mr. Stevenson, but he paved the way to victory on the outward half, and turned 3 up. He was still 3 up at the 13th, and it ended at the 15th. Mr. Lowe won both his matches easily, and so at the end of the day were left in three Ulster men, three Southerners and two Englishmen. Results:—

THE VETERINARY PROFESSION.

A PROPOSED NEW ASSOCIATION.

At the inaugural meeting in Aberdeen yesterday of the Congress of the National Veterinary Medical Association, a proposal to register a new Association under the title: "The British Veterinary Association," led to a strong plea being made not to exclude from the name the word "Ireland."

It was stated that to omit Ireland from the title would cause friction and offend many good Irish members whose strength and virility had been of great value.

The proposal was negatived.

Principal Sir George Adam Smith, Aberdeen University, in welcoming the delegates, said that the pioneer of veterinary hygiene was Hercules, the powerful cleanser of the Augean stables.

Mr. Daetes, West Bromwich, in his presidential address, said that a well-trained veterinary profession was a safeguard to the nation's most valuable asset—agriculture.

Mr. Eldhrick, Newcastle-on-Tyne, suggested that the offer of the War Office of £2 per day in connection with horse purchasing in the event of mobilisation be refused, and that they request remuneration at the rate of £3 10s. per day.

This was agreed to.

Mr. Gofton, Edinburgh, was appointed the new President, and Cambridge was selected as next year's meeting place.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE.

AN EX-ARMY MEN'S ORGANISATION.

William J. Fitzgerald, 9 Clarke's terrace, Dolphin's Barn, was charged in the Dublin District Court yesterday with conspiring with others to commit robbery, and with having, on the 8th inst., at the head of a number of men, entered the office of the Association of ex-Officers and Men of the National Army, 28 North Great George's street, and stolen £4 12s. 11½d. and articles valued at £17, the property of the Association.

Detective Officer Ryan, who arrested the accused, said that he admitted having taken the cash box, money and books, but said that he had authority for doing so.

Mr. O hUadhaigh, solicitor, who appeared for the accused, applied for bail. He said that Fitzgerald had been a sergeant-major in the Free State Army, and the whole matter was a dispute as to the control of the organisation known as the Association of ex-Officers and Men of the National Army, and there might be a good deal of party spirit in the question raised. The accused was only one of a number who took the view that the control of the organisation should be changed to other hands. There was no dishonesty or suggestion of dishonesty.

The accused was remanded for a week in his own bail of £100 and two sureties of £50 each.

BRITISH MILK PRICES DISPUTE.

The dispute between the British Farmers' Union and the National Federation of Dairymen's Association reached a further stage yesterday afternoon, when the joint committee of the latter organisation met to consider the situation created by the milk prices dispute. It was decided to call a general meeting of the Federation in London on Friday.

Is Your Hair Ill?

When your hair becomes brittle, splits easily, comes out in handfuls and loses colour, lustre and tone, then it is ailing. The deadly dandruff germ is at work killing the roots and preventing the hair from getting the nourishment it requires from the blood—hence it languishes, gets thin and patchy, looks poor and lifeless. Lavona Hair Tonic will soon alter all that. It will remove the harmful dandruff, freshen up the scalp and give new life and lustre to the hair. A daily application of Lavona Hair Tonic for a very little while and you will have bright, healthy, glossy tresses, abundant, beautiful and luxuriant. Lavona Hair Tonic is sold by all chemists: ordinary size 2/11, double size 4/3, and every carton contains a binding guarantee of perfect satisfaction or your money refunded in full, so that a trial of Lavona involves no risk whatever.

Get a bottle of Lavona Hair Tonic today and make your hair the delight and envy of all who see it.

A selection of Mr. Hone's works has been made for the National Gallery, and the others—about 300 paintings and sketches in oil and 500 water colours—will be sold. The money thus raised will be used to provide a suitable room for the selected works in the National Gallery.

ARMY ACCOUNTS.

CHARGE AGAINST AN OFFICER

Captain Patrick Geraghty, Free State Army, stationed at Griffith Barracks, was charged on remand in the Northern District Court yesterday, before Mr. Cussen, with misappropriating a sum of £292, the property of the Griffith Barracks laundry fund.

From the evidence it appeared that the duty of the accused was when he received the money in small sums for the laundry account to lodge it in the Bank of Ireland to the credit of the Griffith Barracks laundry account. He failed to lodge the money.

Mr. O'Reilly, who appeared for the accused, said that he was prepared to plead guilty and that he would make good the money. The accused was in the Army since 1916, and was entitled to a gratuity for good service, and with this money he would make good the sum that he was responsible for.

He was remanded for a week.

POSSESSION OF A REVOLVER.

REFUSAL TO RECOGNISE THE COURT.

At the Athlone District Court, before Mr. C. J. Beatty, a young man named John Hayes, formerly a clerk in the employment of the Midland Great Western Railway Company, was charged with being unlawfully in possession of a revolver on the 23rd July.

The accused, when charged, stated that he was a soldier of the Irish Republic and declined to recognise the Court.

Peter Molloy, who was called by Superintendent Hunt as a witness for the prosecution, declined to give evidence.

The District Justice said that he would commit him for contempt of Court and ordered him to be placed under arrest.

Molloy was then taken into custody.

A motor car driver named John Murphy deposed to having driven the accused and Molloy, who appeared to be a prisoner, in the car. He did not see a revolver with the accused.

Cross-examined, the witness admitted having told Sergeant Casey that the accused had a revolver, but he was not telling the truth.

Before remanding him further, the Justice asked Hayes if he wished to say anything, and he replied: "I do not recognise this as a Court at all."

The prisoner was remanded.

IRISH FREE STATE ARMY.

Last night's Dublin Gazette announces that the Executive Council has accepted the resignations of their commissions as afficers of the Defence Force of the Free State from Captain Bryan McCarthy, Second Lieutenant Daniel Jevins, and Second Lieutenant Richard P. Devlin. It also announces that "the services of the following officers of the National Forces have been dispensed with:—Captain Peter Murphy, Captain William McAuliffe, and Lieutenant Edward Brehony.

ESPERANZA, LIMITED.

THE NEW SCHEME.

The directors of Esperanza, Ltd., in a circular to shareholders, say:—The receipt of correspondence from Mr. Lantz, the Mexican Company's consulting engineer, enables your directors now to amplify the reasons recently stated in the Press for the failure of the low grade scheme operations at the Esperanza Mine, which formed the basis upon which the reconstruction of this company was carried through.

Shareholders will remember that Mr. Hoyle, who had been general manager of the Mexican Company for many years, reported, prior to the reconstruction, that the mine contained a tonnage estimated at 1,000,000 tons, having a profit value of $0.50 per ton; that this ore, on the basis of an enlargement of the plant to treat 30,000 tons per month, could be treated at a monthly profit of approximately $15,000. He further recommended developments on the North-West section of the property, with a view to providing, or otherwise, the continuation into the Esperanza Mine of the rich vein on which the Mexican Mines of El Oro were working so successfully.

As a profit of only $0.50 per ton was disclosed by Mr. Hoyle's report, your directors, before submitting the scheme for reconstruction, thought it wise to secure independent advice to confirm, or otherwise, Mr. Hoyle's estimate of operating costs based on the treatment of 30,000 tons per month. Mr. Rose, the engineer consulted, was able to confirm Mr. Hoyle's figures of operating costs, recovery and profit per ton, but, it being impossible to sample the fills by any other means than extracting them, he reported that he was unable to check his estimates of values, and, in view of Mr. Hoyle's long association with the Mexican Company, your directors felt there was no reason to doubt the correctness of his estimates of tonnage and values, as stated above.

The correspondence, however, received from Mr. Lantz and Mr. Rose makes it quite clear that the losses sustained by the Mexican Company in operating under the larger plant unit for the last eight months have been due entirely to the fact that Mr. Hoyle's estimate of the value of tonnage reserves has been proved to be quite erroneous. Mr. Lantz has recommended a scheme for treating a lower tonnage of selected ore, but it seems clear that he is not very confident of the results. In summing up the new programme of operation recommended by Mr. Lantz, it is evident that its success or failure lies in the result of development now in progress in the second level south block, and more important in the fifth level north block, augmented by a limited tonnage of old fillings of uncertain grade. Your directors regret to have to report that the development carried out in the north-west section of the property has not been productive of any encouraging results. Having regard to the company's financial position, due to the losses sustained in operating since the larger unit plant has been working, success under the new scheme must be prompt, failing which an early closing down of the property would become inevitable. In this event, your directors see no other alternative than a liquidation of the company.

COUNTY WATERFORD MOTOR ACCIDENT.

A BOY'S DEATH.

Death from shock following fracture of the pelvis, the result of an injury sustained by the faulty seating accommodation of a lorry used for an excursion, was the verdict returned at an inquest at Waterford on the body of Michael Fahey, aged fourteen. The accident occurred at Whitfield, six miles from Waterford, in the early hours of Sunday morning. The jury held that the occurrence was accidental, and exonerated the driver from all blame.

From the evidence it appeared that a party of thirteen women, nine men, and two boys left Waterford in a lorry for Mount Melleray. They reached Dungarvan, but inclement weather prevented them from completing the journey. They left Dungarvan for Carrick-on-Suir at 3 o'clock, travelling thence to Portlaw, where they arrived at 8 p.m. Leaving Portlaw for home at 9.30 p.m., they joined the main road from Waterford to Cork and stopped at a place known as The Sweep. Here one of the passengers, named Kearney, and his wife left the lorry and walked to Waterford. The others continued the journey in the lorry. At the foot of The Sweep the greasy condition of the road caused the lorry to skid, and the side-boards and the temporary seats with the passengers were pitched forward on the road with great violence. Michael Fahey was killed, and five of the women were injured. All the witnesses testified to the sobriety and careful driving of Nicholas Jacob, who was in charge of the lorry.

In a deposition Jacob said that he did everything possible in the circumstances. He had been driving motors for ten years and never had an accident before.

Sergeant Kilmeeden, Civic Guard, said that when he arrived on the spot he found the people wandering aimlessly about the road. The driver was quite sober.

Dr. Hogan, house surgeon at the Infirmary, said that young Fahey was dead when admitted. There was a wound about four inches long in the lower part of the abdomen, the pelvis was fractured, and there were abrasions on the left hip, back and chest. The injuries would be caused by a very heavy crushing, but the witness did not think that the body was rolled over by the lorry.

IRISH POULTRY-KEEPERS' ASSOCIATION.

At a special Council meeting of the Irish Poultry Keepers' Association, held at the Corn Exchange, Burgh quay, Dublin, on the 5th inst., many important decisions were reached, including the appointment of an organiser in the person of Mr. J. M. Connaughton, Garden House, Enniscorthy, to cover all Ireland, with a view to forming county committees.

The aims of the Association are—To organise the poultry-keepers of Ireland, to improve the breeds of poultry kept, to secure cheaper foodstuffs for its members, and a better market for their produce.

Mr. T. V. Browne has been engaged as Secretary, with an office at the above address.

ELECTIONS.

Two vacancies on the Committee of the Council were filled by the election of Messrs. W. Hughes and J. E. Geoghegan.

The Committee approved a resolution from the Tralee County Committee of Agriculture, calling upon the Government to provide for the supply of lime to farmers and to increase the amount of money available for agricultural instruction. The resolution also asked for the inception of silage experiments.

A resolution was adopted calling for an extension of the telephone system for the benefit of farmers in Santry, Coolock and other parts of the county.

HIBERNIAN MILITARY SCHOOL.

COLOURS TO BE PLACED IN WINDSOR CASTLE.

The Times announces that the King has been pleased to take charge of the Colours of the Royal Hibernian Military School, which will be deposited in Windsor Castle next Friday. On September 2, 1853, the school received its first Colours from the Prince of Wales, afterwards King Edward VII. Fifty years later, on July 23, 1903, King Edward presented new Colours to the school, and these Colours were carried on parade for the last time on July 15, 1924.

The school at Shorncliffe has been closed, and the boys have been transferred to the Duke of York's Royal Military School at Dover. About 1,250 old boys served in the Great War. Of these 80 were killed or died of wounds, 54 were wounded, one was awarded the V.C., a great number received decorations and medals for bravery in the field, and 51 were promoted to commissioned rank.

The Hibernian Society in Dublin was founded in 1769 for maintaining, educating, and putting to trades the orphan children and other children of soldiers in Ireland. In 1806 the school was taken over by the War Office, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland becoming president and the Commander of the Forces in Ireland vice-president. It became known as the Royal Hibernian Military School, and was granted a charter by Queen Victoria in 1871.

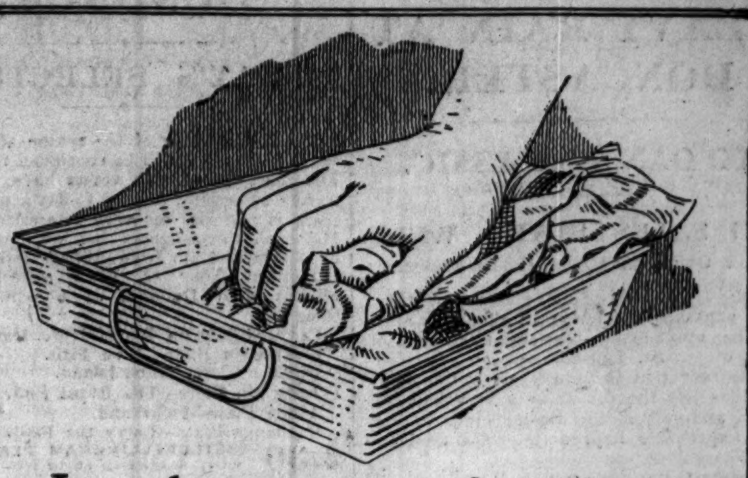
In its own Dublin home the school was one of the sights of the old capital. It was a perfectly organised, self-contained unit, with its own farm, laundry, workshops, swimming bath, churches, hospital, Post Office Savings Bank, and telephone system. Its band always enjoyed a high reputation. The majority of the boys on leaving school volunteered for service in the Army.

BELFAST TRAMWAY MANAGEMENT.

A special meeting of the Tramways Committee of the Belfast Corporation decided to recommend the Council to advertise for a new manager and engineer, and appoint Mr. Carlisle, the present chief of the department, assistant manager, at his present salary. It is understood that Mr. Carlisle is prepared to accept this arrangement. The decision is subject to confirmation by the Council, a special meeting of which will be held on Monday next to receive the recommendation of the Committee.

MUSIC IN ST. STEPHEN'S GREEN.

By kind permission of the Chief Commissioner, the band of the Dublin Metropolitan Police will perform a programme of music in St. Stephen's Green from 4 to 6 p.m. to-day. Conductor, Inspector Norris.



Just the pressure of a damp cloth with the weight of your hand upon it

Baking tins, bread tins, and all tin vessels look better when cleaned regularly with Vim. And their life is longer, for a bright surface repels rust. There is no heavy toil with Vim; just gentle rubbing with a damp cloth, with the weight of the hand behind it.

The reason why Vim is particularly good for tinware is that it cleans without wearing away the tin surface. For tinware is merely thin iron covered with a still thinner coating of tin. Unless cleaned regularly it easily pits, and when rusting starts, holes soon appear.

Sound reasons these for using Vim for cleaning metals; not only tins, but copper, brass, steel, electro-plate, door knobs, and all household ware.

Vim cleans pots, pans, cutlery, crockery, baths and sinks, tiles and porcelain, lino and paintwork, glazed and enamelled surfaces, floors and tables, dishes, cooking vessels, cooking stoves, and all kitchen utensils. It removes rust, grime, grease stains and tarnish from all dirty surfaces.

Vim is sold in large and medium-sized canisters; also in handy cartons

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

HEAVY RAIN AT DONCASTER.

TO-DAY'S CLASSIC.

THE SALES START WELL.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

DONCASTER, Tuesday Night.

An appalling downpour of rain this afternoon has upset many ideas about the probable result of the St. Leger to-morrow afternoon, for the racing in the heavy going this afternoon has left the course in a very bad condition, and only strong drying winds to-night —an improbable happening—could render it sound.

It seems no day can pass without its casualty to a St. Leger candidate. To-day's victim is St. Germans. After he had done a nice gallop this morning Lord Astor's colt coughed several times. He has not, up to the time of writing, been scratched, and apparently there is some hope of sending him to the post. Under such circumstances, however, one cannot take his chance seriously into consideration. Lord Astor is thus left without a candidate for the race, and the Manton stable's only probable runner is Reggio, whose chance I cannot take seriously into consideration.

POLYPHONTES AND SANSOVINO.

Polyphontes did a good gallop this morning. On his severe preparation he has trained a little light, but he looks as hard as steel, and his trainer thinks that he has never been better. Unfortunately, the heavy going is much against him. His trainer stated yesterday that he coughed about ten days ago, but only a little, and the malady soon passed and left him none the worse. Sansovino runs, but, as I have said several times before, he cannot after such preparation have much chance. He does not look half the horse he was on Derby day, and the only thing in his favour is the soft state of the going. If heavily backed on your side last week, still the bookmakers on this side appear perfectly willing to lay him freely. I believe that his trainer has much confidence in him, and he is most certainly expected to get a place. I do not, however, think that he will beat Polyphontes, though, with the field attenuated as it is, he may be dangerous to leave out.

THE FRENCH CANDIDATES.

It is not definitely settled yet whether Donoghue will ride Irismond, as Mr. J. B. Joel still states that he wishes Defiance to run. The hopes of the connections of Irismond have been rising all the day as the rain continued to pour. Their colt, who is a big, plain-looking fellow, not out of place in a field of 'chasers, is said to be a thorough mudlarker, for whom no going can be too bad, and he is well expected to win the race. All the French people here like his chance much better than that of their other candidate, Transvaal. Obliterate will be suited by the soft going, and may do better than he has done at any time this year.

It would not be ironic if Spalpeen were to compensate Sir Edward Hulton for the defection of Straitlace. He was thought to be a good colt in the spring, and is one who might create the surprise that is expected to-morrow, but one cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, make him out with a good chance. Watford can have only an outside chance, and the same remark applies to Cape Horn. I was hoping to predict the success of Polyphontes with every confidence, but with the going as it is, faith in him must be shaken. I must, however, still choose him to win, and suggest Salmon Trout and Irismond for the remaining places.

THE SALES.

It has been raining here most of the day, the first drops falling as the sales began in the Glasgow paddocks, details of which will be found elsewhere. Buying, on the whole, was good, and the top price of the morning was made by the colt by Spearmint out of Marie Lloyd, bred in Queen's County by Mrs. Dennehy. At 2,300 guineas he fell to Mr. Charles Creed. Breeders generally were satisfied with the prices made, for no expectations of remarkable figures were cherished.

RACING IN THE RAIN.

The racing was entirely spoiled by the atrocious weather. It rained pitilessly after the first two events had been run. There were hopes of a Royal victory with Runnymede in the Champagne Stakes, but he was beaten half a length by Bucellas, the colt whose sensational defeat at Goodwood led to all the nobbling stories. He won here in very good style, and broke Basil Jarvis's long spell of bad luck. To Mr. Singer, who won the Prince Edward Handicap last Saturday, fell the Great Yorkshire, his lightly-weighted candidate, Daimyo, winning in a canter by six lengths from Highbrow, with Mizzen Mast another six lengths away third, and Shippon, who ran very well, close up, fourth. After the race both the Manton candidates, Daimyo, who was first, and Puttenden, who was last, coughed. The Manton colt, Picaroon, could not run for the Champagne Stakes, as he was also coughing in the morning. This epidemic has truly taken heavy toll of all the leading stables in England. Most people thought that the best thing of the day was Mr. Persse's colt, Lomondside, in the Glasgow Nursery. He should have won easily, but a very weak finish ridden by his jockey, George Smith, resulted in his only dead-heating with Warrior's Shield for second place, both being beaten a short head by an outsider, Larkspur II., who was entirely unfancied. Colledge Leader trains this winner, and his brother took the High-weight Handicap with Lighthouse, a good colt in the soft going, who won in a canter.

TO-MORROW'S SELECTIONS.

Next to the classic to-morrow the best race will be that for the Rufford Handicap, in which the Cesarewitch favourite makes his first appearance of the season. He has to meet Jazz Band and Bolet Satan, among others, but I take CEYLONESE to win. The Cleveland Handicap, the first race of the day, may be won by CERAMIC, and the Bradgate Nursery by BALKAN.

(Winner trained by H. Leader.)

Betting—9 to 2 agst. Mardi Gras, 5 to 1 LIGHTHOUSE, 6 to 1 Clochnaben, 7 to 1 each Greek Bachelor and The Bow, 10 to 1 Irish Eagle, 100 to 8 bar six.

When the colours could be discerned, Lighthouse was leading from Ruysdael, Pass the Mint, Mardi Gras, and Irish Eagle. The last named took second place about a quarter of a mile from home, but Lighthouse held his own and won by six lengths; two lengths separated second and third. Ruysdael was fourth, and Mardi Gras fifth.

3.0—CHAMPAGNE STAKES of £30 each, £20 ft., or £5 if dec., with £1,000 added, for 2-y.o. Second £200, third £100. 6 f.

Won by two lengths; a neck.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

THE ST. LEGER.

The programme for to-day, apart from the St. Leger, gives promise of an excellent day's sport, though the downpour of yesterday has left the course in almost a quagmire, and I fear, unless the weather takes a turn for the better, many trainers will decide not to run their charges. The St. Leger problem becomes more perplexing as time goes on. Coughing is prevalent in many big stables, and it comes on so suddenly that it is hardly safe to declare anything overnight as a certain starter. The following, however, is a list of the

PROBABLE STARTERS AND JOCKEYS.

GREAT BARRIER (Sir G. Bullough), b. c., by Chaucer—Barena, 9-0 (J Jarvis)..E. Elliott
SANSOVINO (Lord Derby), b. c., by Swynford—Gondolette, 9-0 (Lambton) ...T. Weston
SPALPEEN (Sir E. Hulton), br. c., by Tracery—Scotch Rose, 9-0 (D. Waugh) F. O'Neill
OBLITERATE (Sir R. Jardine), b. or br. c., by Tracery—Damage, 9-0 (R. W. Colling) T. Burns
POLYPHONTES (Mr. Sol Joel), b. c., by Polymelus—St. Josephine, 9-0 (De Mestre) W. McLachlan
SALMON TROUT (H.H. the Aga Khan), b. c., by The Tetrarch—Salamandra, 9-0 (R. Dawson) ....B. Carslake
TRANSVAAL II. (M. L. Mantacheff), b. c., by Tracery—Wilfreda, 9-0 (France) ......Ferre
REGGIO (Mr. Reid Walker), br. c., by Beppo —Mirage, 9-0 (Taylor) ....H. H. Beasley
WATFORD (Capt. A. Thistlethwayte), ch. c., by Swynford—Watersmeet, 9-0 (Wilmot) A. Smyth
*SANTORB (Mr. A. Barclay Walker), br. c., by Santoi—Countess Torby, 9-0 (J. Rhodes) .... —
ZODIAC (Major G. Loder), b. c., by Sunstar—Molly Desmond, 9-0 (Gilpin)...Archibald
IRISMOND (M. M. Boussac), b. c., by Irish Lad—Desmond Lassie, 9-0 (France) S. Donoghue
FRATER (The Aga Khan), b. or br. c., by Cannobie—Sister of Mercy, 9-0 (R. Dawson) .... —
ARCADE (Mr. A. de Rothschild), b. c., by Tracery—Doro, 9-0 (J. Watson)........J. Childs
CAPE HORN (Lord Glanely), b. c., by He—White Squall, 9-0 (C. Marsh)..........V. Smyth
GREEN FIRE (Mr. J. Joel), ch. c., by Sunstar—Green Cloth, 9-0 (C. Morton).... —
HURRYBELLE (Mr. A. J. Ash), b. f., by Hurry On—Mirobella, 9-0 (H. Leader)..F. Winter
WINALOT (Mr. Shepherd), br. c., by Son-in-Law—Gallenza, 9-0 (W. Jarvis)........H. Jelliss
* Doubtful starter.

St. Germans went well in a gallop yesterday morning, but was under suspicion, and it has since been decided that he will not run. There are rumours, too, to the effect that Polyphontes is amiss, but I have reason to believe them groundless, and am assured by those who should know that he is perfectly fit and well. Be that as it may, I cannot bring myself to think of him as a stayer, and discard him on this account. Salmon Trout, bar his lapse at Hurst Park, has, in my opinion, run the most consistent of our three-year-olds, but there again the question of stamina comes in, for though he won a race of a mile and a half in good style at Newmarket, that particular race was run at rather a slow pace. His connections, I believe, are very confident, and they should certainly be best able to judge. Irismond has had significant backing the last few days, and if Green Fire does not run Donoghue will ride him. I am told on reliable authority, however, that Transvaal II. is sure to beat him. It is altogether a most perplexing race, but, believing Sansovino to be nowhere nearly at his best, I feel inclined to go for to win, and as a good each-way bet the much-improved and plodding Winalot.

The Rufford Abbey Handicap usually throws some light on the big autumn handicaps, and as the popular Ceylonese is to run it will be interesting to see how he acquits himself. Though he won this race last year, he is a horse I have never really liked, and I fear he has a kink in his temperament. Far more to my liking is that fine stayer, Jazz Band. He won the Northumberland Plate almost without an effort, and Kwannon, who then finished seventh, has since won the Prince Edward Handicap. Bolet Satan is, I believe, well fancied, but, through London Cry and Kwannon, Jazz Band should beat him, and I give the last-named a confident vote. Balkan appears to be handicapped to win the Bradgate Park Nursery, for he has run really well in high-class company. Conde runs in the Tattersall Sale Stakes, but he is a little hard to get seven furlongs on this going, and I prefer Field Argent. Full selections:—

Cleveland Handicap—Helsby.
Milton Stakes—Palefroi.
St. Leger—Salmon Trout.
Bradgate Park Nursery—Balkan.
Tattersall Sale Stakes—Field Argent.
Rufford Abbey Handicap—Jazz Band.

RUGBY.

WITH THE BRITISH TEAM.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

JOHANNESBURG.

The Durban ground, where the first of the Test Matches between Great Britain and the South Africans was played on Saturday, has the best surface of any of the enclosures upon which the tourists have yet appeared. It was one of the poorest specimens of international football that I have seen for some seasons. It was not a case of one side being good and the other poor; both were equally ineffective, and the whole standard of play, whether from individuals or in combination, was disappointingly low. It was one of these games which, five minutes after they are over, make it difficult to recall many noteworthy features. As a matter of fact, the incident which aroused the most comment not so much concerned the play as the try which South Africa scored. Half an hour after the game had started, and after Oster, the outside half-back, had lived up to his reputation as beeing the most dangerous drop-goal kicker in the Union, Clarkson raced down on the right. Ian Smith was left with the alternative of going for the centre or watching Aucamp on the wing. Clarkson was forced to pass, and Aucamp appeared to knock the ball on some yards, but was allowed to recover possession and score in the corner. That is what appeared to be the case, not only from the Press box, which is in the centre of the ground, but also by those in a direct line with the final transfer, and who struck up a chorus of "What about a knock-on?" Addressed, of course, to the referee.

It looked to many of us such an extraordinary bad decision on the part of Mr. Oakley, who had handled the game against Griqualand West in a manner that was in refreshing contrast to some of the other referees that had been encountered, that I, for one, hesitated to believe my own eyes; and after the game I sought an explanation from Mr Oakley, from Ian Smith, from Aucamp, and also, incidentally, from Cove-Smith. Agreement was general that what so many of us took to be Aucamp knocking-on was, in reality, Smith's attempt to intercept the pass. Later, photographers confirmed this view, and quite settled a point which had led to a wide divergence of opinion. It was entirely a remarkable illustration of an optical delusion.

Apart from this, the game held all too few noteworthy items, and, from the British point of view, was all the more disappointing because it was a game that might so easily have been won. If this has to be regarded as a fair indication of present-day Rugby in South Africa, all one can say is that the standard of play has dropped considerably since the days of the Springboks who came to England. I do not think there is any doubt but that England would have run up a big score at Twickenham had she been opposed by the same side as was captained by Albertyn, the old Guy's Hospital centre. Scotland and Ireland, too, would beat them with some ease; even Wales could hardly have gone under to a lot that was good, without being great, in front, and just ordinary behind.

I hope I am not being unjust to South Africa, nor do I wish to disparage a man who played well. But those who remember Albertyn will be able to make their own estimate. The ex-Guy's man was looked upon as the most dangerous three-quarter, and was credited with such skill that he was given a commission with which British three-quarters are not often flattered—that is to say, he always took the inside berth, moving from right to left, and vice versa, wherever the scrimmage or the line-out happened to be. Once the South Africans had obtained their lead, the order was given to keep the ball tight. Up till then the play had not been spectacular; afterwards it closed up almost completely.

I am told that there is a great tendency in South Africa Rugby circles to go in for the tight game, and that is one reason why I have been disappointed at the inability of our backs in the last few games to give of their best. In the first Test the three-quarters were not effective, but some explanation can probably be found in the fact that soon after the game started Maxwell was damaged. The muscles of one of his shoulder blades were torn, and, later on, in bringing off a hard tackle, the bone itself went. Under the circumstances it is impossible to say anything further about Maxwell than to compliment him upon his fortitude in going on playing uncomplainingly. He was left behind at Durban, and the prospect of his playing again during the tour is doubtful. The services have thus been lost of a man who has proved of very considerable use, and his departure from the field of activity makes the arrival of Harold Davies all the more welcome. It is hoped that Davies will give the line that thrustfulness which reached its zenith at Kimberley and has been gradually on the wane since. Ian Smith was switched across to the left wing for Wallace to play on the right; the Oxford and Scottish wing displayed a strength in defence which had not hitherto been suspected. One of the disappointments came from the half-backs. With Young and Waddell having failed, as a pair, to live up to their individual reputation, it was hoped that Waddell would find in Whitley a partner who would be sufficiently subversive to give full rein to the other's individual brilliance. They had done fairly well together the only time they had been linked together during the tour—namely, against the Orange Free State. Now, South Africa fielded a very useful pair in O'Shea and Myburgh, and Waddell spent a by no means idle or unproductive afternoon. But he was not at his best, and the fact, coupled with the breakdown in the centre, had not a little to do with the rarity of occasions upon which the British wings were given anything like a reasonable opening.

If Waddell was not at the top of his form, Whitley certainly was. As every Rugby man in the Northern counties knows, Whitley is one of the smallest men playing first-class football. His fair hair, his slight form, his plastered eyebrow, his almost bashful look when he finds he has done something that has aroused enthusiasm, soon mark him out. Had his physical attributes failed it is perfectly certain that his play would have attracted ample attention in this his first international. Whitley weighs 9st. 9lbs.; one of the South African forwards turns the beam at 15st., and five others are well over 14st. Yet Whitley never faltered in going down to stop a rush, and I think he tackled all the big men at one time or another during the game. He gathered the ball from the scrimmages quickly, and passed it in unerringly, and the neatness and accuracy of his own punts were of inestimable service to his side.

Under all the circumstances, I am inclined to think that Whitley was the best of the backs on view. The British try was certainly his work, although the finishing touch was put on by Blakiston. Drysdale was good, but has played better. He was not a certain starter until a few hours before the match, and it is possible that the absence of his usual dash and desire to open up the game was due to the need for care. One of the best things he did during the afternoon was to make a mark on his own line from a high punt when he was facing the sun and the South African forwards were charging down upon him.

As I have indicated, the British pack was heavily out-weighted. Their biggest man, McVicker (who broke his nose) weighs 14st. 6lbs.; du Plessis, the Western Transvaal giant, is 15st. Right down the list the proportion was the same so that the South Africans had a total advantage of some five stone. Britain only played one wing forward, Blakiston, but I have a shrewd suspicion that all the South African forwards were not pushing their hardest.

The conditions were not best suited to the British, who are not accustomed to playing in such hot sunshine, but they lasted the full eighty minutes in great style. They were beaten for possession in the first half, but they picked up in the second, and finished with the same record of 31 times each that they were able to get the ball out to their backs. Howie, as he has done in every match, played splendidly, while the only uncapped forward, J. N. Brand, thoroughly justified his selection. He proved to be one of the best forwards on the field.

We saw little forward dribbling; rather was it a hard, ceaseless struggle between the two packs. And behind there were too many knocks-on.

The tourists have come back to Johannesburg, and have to play another stiff match this afternoon against Witwatersrand. Then on Saturday comes the second Test.

CRICKET.

GENTLEMEN V. PLAYERS.

The second match of the Scarborough Festival had to be abandoned yesterday without another ball being bowled. Rain began to fall at half-past eleven, and though the wicket had been fully covered the outfield was in a very sodden state, and, recognising the impossibility of the conditions becoming fit for cricket, the game was abandoned after lunch. The Players, with one wicket down in their second innings, were 15 runs behind. Score:—

LORD COWDRAY'S XI. V. REST OF ENGLAND.

As last year, there was a splendid finish to the second match of the Hastings Festival yesterday, the Rest of England beating Lord Cowdray's XI. by four wickets only five minutes before time. Set to get 107 in the last innings, they went in at twenty-five minutes to four, and thus had plenty of time before them, but the weather was very unsettled, and rain, which had delayed resumption in the morning until nearly half-past twelve, might easily have spoilt their chances. As it was, a shower came on at a critical time, when, with half an hour left, 32 runs were still required. Resuming quickly after the rain ceased, the bowlers were handicapped, and Tate, by some good hitting, made the issue practically certain, but the bowlers never lost their length, and there was some excitement before a leg bye settled matters. Bowley, who took out his bat, played steadily for an hour and fifty minutes, keeping up one end while his colleagues forced matters, but the batsmen had to work hard, Waddington bowling extremely well until he strained his back. Lord Cowdray's XI. had begun the day from an unpromising position, as, with four men out for 54, they were only one run ahead, but their innings did not close until a quarter past three. Gilligan, who dismissed seven men, took his 100th wicket of the season, while Hardinge, seventh out at 94, provided Tate with his 200th wicket. Hardinge showed sound form for two hours, and Morris also batted very well. Score:—

YACHTING.

THE BURNHAM WEEK.

Yesterday's racing at Burnham-on-Crouch was under the auspices of the Burnham Yacht Club. The breeze, which was south-westerly, was decidedly fresh. In the match for the international 12-metre class Messrs. Payne and Reid's Vanity, which had sprung her boom in the previous day's race, was a non-starter, whilst Mr F. Last's Noreen and Mr. Leuchar's Moyana II. gave up. Mr. J. R. Piper's Atalanta and Mr. P. de G. Benson's Clymene completed the course of 31¼ miles, at the conclusion of which they were timed as follows:—

DUBLIN.

THE GUINNESS BOOM CONTINUED. GOVERNMENT NATIONAL LOAN FLUCTUATING. RAILS FLAT. COATS BETTER. TOBACCOS STRONG.

Outside of Government National 5 p.c. Sterling Loan and Guinness Ord. Shares business on 'Change, especially in local securities, was exceedingly poor in volume. In the former sharp depression was at one time shown on free selling pressure in the absence of support, but the market turned quickly, and the entire loss was subsequently made good. In the latter—Guinness Ord. Shares—there was once more strong buying pressure sufficient to lift the price at the earlier market until 47 x.d. and bonus was reached, when profit-taking influenced a slight reaction to 46 11/16. The price for cash was 46 7/16, and for new account varied between 46¾ and 47. At the later market the cash price was 46⅝, and for the new account 46 11/16, 47, 46 15/16, 47 1/16, making the rise a further ½ for cash and the account. The Bank market was supported quietly, with all shares scarce. Home Railways were again dull, with lower prices realised for small lots. Parent Tyres closed steady. Coats Ord. rallied in the Textile group, but Bleachers and Calico Printers both gave way a few pence. British-American and Imperial Tobaccos were in brisk request, and improved, while Shell Transports were weaker. Vickers also gave way.

Government 5 p.c. National Loan opened ⅛ lower at 91⅞, and fell quickly away to 91½, ¼, 91, when the price rebounded to 92, thus showing finally no alteration on the day.

In British Funds, War Loan 5 p.c. at the earlier market repeated 101⅞, and at the later market rose 1/16 to 101 15/16, at which price the Deed Stock also changed hands. Ditto 4½ p.c. fell ½ to 96⅞. Funding Loan was good, and rose 1/16 to 90½, while Guaranteed Land 2¾ p.c. repeated 56½, and Irish Land 3 p.c. 64⅞. India 3½ p.c. gave way ¼ to 65 x.d.

Banks were good. Munster and Leinsters rose ⅛ to 6⅜, Nationals ¼ to 20, and Royals ⅛ to 14⅛, while Bank stock repeated 271½.

Home Rails were in a dragging condition. Midland Great Western fell ½ to 29½ and Great Southern and Western Pref. ½ to 50, while Cork and Bandon 4 p.c. Debs. repeated 65.

In Trams, Dublin United Pref. repeated 9⅛.

Parent Tyre Ord. repeated 20s. and the Pref. 14s.

Alliance Gas 4 p.c. Deb. stock repeated 66.

In Bakery shares, Inglis Debs. rose 1/32 to 4 11/16, while Bolands Ord. repeated 40s.

As regards Manufacturing shares, Coats firmed up and closed 6d. better, with dealings at 61s. for cash and 61s. 3d., 61s. 6d. for new account. Bleachers fell 3d. to 54s. 9d., Courtauld Pref. 3d. to 18s. 3d., and Calicos 3d. to 32s. 7½d., 32s. 6d. for cash. Cottons repeated 55s. 6d. Tobaccos were in brisk request. British-American rose 6d. to 109s. 6d. and Imperials 6d. to 78s. 9d., while Imperials of Canada fell 4½d. to 26s. 6d. for cash, and Vickers 4½d. to 8s. 7½d.

Trading, etc., shares were quiet. Burke Debs. eased 1/16 to 8 7/16 and Dockrell Ord. 3d. to 14s. 9d., but Maguire and Gatchell Pref. rose 1s. to 55s. for an odd lot, while J. C. Parkes and Sons Pref. repeated 12s. 1½d. Mooney Debs. were again called 60 bid. Dolphin Hotel Pref. repeated 62s. 6d. That a General Court will be held at the Bank on Thursday next, the 11th inst., at One o'clock precisely, being one of the Quarterly Courts appointed by Charter.

ROBERT J. BUCKLEY.
Secretary.

LONDON STOCKS STEADY.

TEA SHARES RISING.

Despite the fact that yesterday was the general carry-over day, a fair amount of business was transacted. A feature was the sharp all round rise in Tea issues. A good business was done, and at the close prices were marked a good deal higher. In Breweries, Guinness, after being as high as 470⅝, closed slightly below this figure, but registered a gain of 10 points on the day. Watney Combe Def. put on a couple of points to 246½. In gilt-edged securities British Funds were better. Consols showed an increase of a ¼ to 57¼ x.d. while Funding Loan also finished ⅛ higher at 90⅛. War Loans were generally steady, the 3½ p.c. remained at 96, while the 4½ p.c. at 97½, were also unaltered. The fives, however, moved up slightly, and the final price showed a gain of ⅛ to 101⅞. Indias were firm at previous prices, while Local Loan were also unchanged. In Colonial Government Stocks Alberta 4½ p.c. 1943 rose a point to 95.

FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, with the exception of French and German issues, were steady. Argentine and Brazilians were maintained at over-night quotations. Chinese were steady on the improvement in the exchange, and these also finished unchanged. German Bonds opened lower, recovered slightly, and then dropped back again. The Threes were quoted at various prices between 36s. and 41s., and the final price was much below the best. Prussians also weakened. Japanese were steady. The 4 p.c. 1905 remained at their over-night level of 91, while the 5 p.c. 1907 were also unchanged at 79. Mexicans were quiet and without change. Peruvians were maintained at previous prices.

HOME RAILS were firm, but in most cases they closed without change. Great Westerns repeated 109, while North Eastern Pref.-Ord. at 81, and the Def.-Ord. at 30, were also both unchanged. Midland Ord., however, moved up, and the final quotations was ½ higher. Metropolitans were quiet, and repeated former prices. Southern Pref.-Ord. remained at 83½, while the Def.-Ord. at 42½, and the "A" shares at 39½, were both unchanged. Undergrounds were steady.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN RAILS were generally better where any change was marked. Bahia Blanca Guaranteed Stock gained ½ on the day to 80. Buenos Ayres issues, with the exception of the Western, which dropped ½, were unchanged. "Canpacs" repeated 164 x.d., while Central Argentine were also without alteration at 75. Central Uruguay Ord. enjoyed a sharp advance, being 2 points better on the day at 69. Entre Rios Ord. remained at 21, but the 6 p.c. Cum.-Pref. further advanced to 80, a rise of a ½. Grand Trunk Pacific held their gain of the previous day, and closed without change at 67. Leopoldina put on 1½ to 25, while San Paulo finished a couple of points to the good at 153. Mexicans were inclined to weaken. The 8 p.c. lost a point to 22; the Ord. at 6, and the 6 p.c. Pref. at 10 were, however, unchanged.

OIL MARKET FIRM.

PRICES MOVING UP.

Rather more interest was displayed in the Oil Share Market as a whole yesterday, and a brighter tendency developed, prices, with few exceptions, moving to higher levels. Certain favourites were singled out for special attention, and with the market in its present sensitive condition, prices were not slow to respond to the renewed demand. The arrangement of the small open position was effected with ease. An outstanding feature of strength and activity was supplied by V.O.C. Holdings, the price responding smartly to a keen demand. The market in the shares was helped by the announcement of excellent production figures for the past four weeks, ending August 23rd, in which period the output from the La Rosa field amounted to 34,114 metric tons, as compared with 32,444 metric tons for the preceeding four weeks. Among other Venezuelans British Controlled were a better market at an advance, with special attention directed to the Common shares. Phœnix were firmer on the announcement of record production figures for the past month, the output amounting to 20,078 tons, while the through-put of the refineries was 22,020 tons, these figures comparing with a production of 19,700 tons, and a through-put of 18,700 tons for July. The recognised leaders presented nothing of special importance, although they were harder than of late. Shells met with an increased demand, and finished at an advance, and Royal Dutch improved in sympathy. Burmahs responded to a moderate inquiry, and Anglo-Persians, although finally unchanged, were looking better. Transactions in Mexican Eagles were not of sufficient volume to influence the quotation. As regards Trinidad issues, Centrals were bid for at an advance, Apex maintained a firm tone, and a recovery occurred in United British. Lobitos improved, although finishing below the best, and Anglo-Ecuadorians also moved up. Closing prices:—

LONDON MINING MARKET QUIET.

AWAITING THE END OF THE HOLIDAYS.

While the tone of the Stock Exchange generally was firm yesterday, the amount of business passing in the speculative sections still left a good deal to be desired. The Mining Market could boast no outstanding features, and the continued idleness of the Kaffir department was the subject of much comment. The excuse could not be found in the industrial position, nor in the returns from the various producers, which are generally satisfactory, while the arrangement of the carry-over in general securities interfered but little with the ordinary course of business. But there is no doubt that many important operators are still away, and until the holiday season is definitely over shrewd market observers expect little change in the situation. The price of tin further dropped £1 to £252 12s. 6d. per ton, and dealings in the Share Market dwindled. Tronoh, thanks to the 1s. dividend, and the additional special dividend of 1s., were, however, a strong spot, and Sungei Besi, which declares a 1s. dividend, were only a trifle easier. Siamese lost the turn, and Kamunting were lowered fractionally. Nigerians were steady among West Africans. Abbassi continued quietly on the up grade. Associated weakened in sympathy with Canadians, but Sulphide Ord. strengthened. The Sons of Gwalia were better on the return. Coppers were dull and uninteresting. Canadians were on the down grade, some selling being reported from Toronto, also a bad impression was created by the report as to the unpayability of the Porcupine Davidson property. This, of course, has no bearing on the position of other mines, but with quietness generally prevailing, the tendency was to lower values practically all round. Chosen Synd were in request, and there was some nibbling at Dome Mining. San Francisco reports an estimated operating profit of 110,907 dollars for August, as compared with 115,725 dollars for the previous month. Closing prices:—

DEALINGS IN LONDON MARKET.

The following dealings among active stocks and shares were marked in London yesterday:— [illegible]

INDUSTRIALS FAIRLY FIRM.

GUINNESS STILL MOVING UP.

No difficulty was experienced in arranging the carry-over in the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets yesterday, the usual charge for accommodation being 5½-6½ p.c. Business for new time was on a fair scale, but was mostly confined to specialities. The feature of the Textile group was the strength of Grouts owing to a demand on a market short of shares. As a result they finished with a gain of about 4s. at 42s., while the New rose to 34s., a rise of about 3s. on balance. Francis Hinde and Hardy also came into strong request, and finished about 2s. 3d. up on the day at 25s. 9d. Elsewhere in Textiles, Coats met with support, and closed 6d. better at 61s. 3d. ex div. Among Stores descriptions, Army and Navys continued in request, and further advanced to 36s. 6d., but J. Barkers gave way to 60s. 6d. Cables were inclined to firmness. Anglo "A" improving to 23¾ and the "B" to 104½. Easterns rose ½ to 162, and Westerns moved up to 16. Globes, however, lost ⅛ at 17⅛. The Marconi group finished without quotable alteration, and Electrics showed few changes. Among Tramway issues, British Traction Prefs. rose 1½ to 101½ and London and United Debs. were wanted, and closed 4 better at 54½, while London and Suburban Prefs. moved up to 8s.

Dulness still reigned in the Iron and Steel section, lower levels being the rule. Thorneycrofts lost 1s. at 7s., and falls of 6d. occurred in Armstrong 2nd Prefs. to 14s. 6d., in Cargo Fleets to 12s., and in Guest Keens to 34s. Declines of 3d. were again very numerous, Vickers receding to 8s. 6d., and Bolckow Vaughans to 6s. 3d. Exceptionally, Babcocks were a trifle harder at 47s., while Chinese Engineering recovered to 3⅜ and Mond Nickels continued in good request, and closed another 1s. harder at 43s. 3d. Johnson and Phillips were wanted, and rose to 24s. 3d. Coal shares remained fairly steady, though Denabys lost 6d. at 19s.; North's Navigation eased to 5s. Among Nitrates, Salars came into request, and finished 9d. up at 73s. 3d. Aguas Blancas rose 6d. to 35s. 6d., but Lagunas slipped back to 38s. 6d. Land shares had a firm appearance, Forestals coming into favour again and finishing 4½d. better at 23s. Renewed support for Colombia Gramophones lifted the price to 33s. 6d. at one time, but they finished under the best at 32s. 6d., though 1s. up on balance. Elsewhere in the Miscellaneous Trading section, African and Easterns relapsed to 31s. 6d., while in sympathy Niger Prefs. fell back to 17s. Borax Deferred lost a few pence at 41s. 6d., and United Alkalis closed 1/16 lower at 1 13/16 ex div. Nobel issues were off colour, the Ord. further declining to 22s. 6d., the Prefs. to 21s., and the Deferred to 8s. 6d. Nelson Bros. improved to 2 7/16. James Finlays rose to 72s. in sympathy with the strength of Tea Shares. Newspaper Shares hardly moved. Firmness characterised Insurances, Royal Exchange rising 5 to 585, Phœnix ⅜ to 12¼, and Eagle Stars ¼ to 8½. Londons finished ⅛ better at 11½. Bank Shares, however, were off colour. Hong Kong and Shanghai gave way to 134½ on the latest news from China, and National of Indias fell ½ to 44.

There was no diminution of interest in the Tobacco group, where R. and J. Hill and Cope Bros. provided the features on renewed talk of amalgamation. The former finished 1s. 6d. better at 34s., while Cope Bros. put on another 2s. to 62s. United (South) and the Deferred strengthened to 79s. 3d. and 78s. 3d. respectively, while Albert Bakers improved to 29s. 6d. There was still good business passing in Breweries. Guinness continued their upward movement to 470 ex div. and bonus, or 10 higher on balance. Watney Combe Deferred rose 2 to 246½ and Barclay Perkins Prefs. ⅛ to 5⅛. Hotels held their ground, Yorks further improving to 24s. 9d., or 1s. up on balance. Among recent issues, County of London Notes changed hands at ⅞ premium; otherwise little of interest transpired.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS NOT SO PLENTIFUL.

EXCHANGES WEAK.

There were again no Treasury bill maturities yesterday, and, with some of the banks calling in funds, floating supplies of credit were not quite so plentiful. As a rule, 3 p.c. was charged for day-to-day money for both fresh loans and renewals, weekly fixtures going on at 2¾ p.c. Discount quotations were steady with little business doing. Fine three months' bills were 3⅝-3 11/16 p.c., and second-hand Treasuries were offered at 3 11/16 p.c. to a shade over.

Gold advanced 5d. per oz. to 93s. 5d. Silver rose ⅛d. to 35d., both for spot and forward delivery.

The tendency of foreign exchanges remained weak, more especially for Inter-Allied currencies. Sterling on New York opened steady at the overnight fall, being 4.42¾, and subsequently improved to 4.43-4.43¼, while French francs, after further depreciating to 85.15, picked up a little to 84.90-84.95. Belgian francs were steady at 89¾-90, and Italian lire remained at 101 15/16-101 13/16. Holland was firmer at 11.60-11.60½ florins, also Switzerland at 23.61-23.64 francs. There was a further sharp appreciation in Danish kroners to 26.10-26.15. Austrian crowns again improved to 312,000-318,000, and Polish zloty appreciated to 23.05. South American currencies showed little change, but Chili further weakened to 45.10 pesos, Argentine dollars being steady at 42 7/16-42¼, and Brazilian milreis at 5 11/32-5 11/16. Rupees hardened to 1s. 5 15/16d.-1s. 5 31/32d., and Japanese yen appreciated to 1s. 10 5/16d.-1s. 10 7/16d. China rates were still rising. The following are closing quotations:—

RUBBER SHARES IRREGULAR.

Business in the Rubber Share market yesterday was small, and the tone of an irregular character. Price changes were not numerous, and, while a few issues were marked higher, the majority of alterations were in the downward direction. Malacca were marked 1s. 3d. higher at 30s; while Rubber Trust, at 26s. 3d., were 5¼d. better. Linggi rose to 29s., being 6d. higher; and Anglo-Malay, at 17s. 4½d., and Selangor, at 3s. 9d., were both 4½d. to the good. Anglo-Dutch rose 3d. to 38s. 3d.; while Kepong, at 3s. 4½d., showed a rise of 2¼d. P.P.K. Ceylon, on the other hand, lost 3s. 9d. to 12s. 6d. United Sua Betong dropped 1s. 3d. to 58s. 9d.; while General Ceylon, at 36s., and General Central, at 17s. 3d., were both 3d. down. Sungei Kapar, at 2s. 9¾d., and United Temiang, at 1s. 11d., were 3d. and 1¾d. lower, respectively. Kepitigalla lost 2d. to 10d. There were a few other declines. The price of rubber rose to 13⅞d. per lb. Closing prices—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Writing on "Trade Conditions" in July, Barclay's Bank "Monthly Review" concludes:—"It is clear that considerable progress has yet to be made before our trading position can be regarded as satisfactory. As a result of the war, the industrial organisation of various countries has considerably expanded. The United States and Japan, for example, are much stronger competitors in international trade than they were in 1913, while the restoration of economic conditions in Germany, for a time at least, will also accentuate the severity of international competition. The improvements effected in industrial equipment and the better methods of production have also greatly increased the productive capacity of industry, while the desire of numerous countries to foster home industries has led to the imposition of high tariffs which make still more difficult the full recovery of our pre-war trading position. In view of such circumstances as these, even with the greatest co-operation of all parties, the task of restoring in this country the pre-war level of prosperity would be by no means an easy one. Unfortunately, a full measure of co-operation is still lacking, and during the past month further labour disputes have been recorded. At present wage negotiations affecting several hundred thousands of men are in progress, a strike having been threatened in one or two important industries. It cannot be too strongly emphasised that the slight trade recovery noticeable during the current year is still not firmly established, and it is earnestly to be hoped that a settlement of the various questions in dispute will be effected without a stoppage of work."

Under date Valparaiso, September 3, the Anglo-South American Bank's Correspondent cables:—"Nitrate sales by the Producers' Association during the past fortnight have again been on a small scale, the amount disposed of being 31,496 metric quintals for shipment in January, 1925. Total sales of the fertiliser in the current nitrate season, however, now amount to as much as 13,681,591 metric quintals. Exchange has shown a weaker tendency, the 90-days sight rate on London having advanced to 45.20, at which level the sterling value of the peso is 5¼d. There has been no outstanding change in the share market since the date of last cable. The cereal market is steady in tone, and Forrajera and Chevalier barley have advanced from $52 and $53 per 100 kilos, respectively, on 20th ult. to a common quotation of $55. In other sections of the commodity markets mixed merino wool is steady at $201 per 46 kilos, and raw hides are also unchanged at $2 per kilo. Copper bars have declined to $252 per metric quintal, but copper ore is firmer at $13.20 per metric quintal.

The half-yearly meeting of the Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Company will be held at the offices, D'Olier street, Dublin, on Wednesday, 24th inst., at one o'clock, for the purpose of receiving the directors' report and statement of accounts for the half-year ended 30th June last, and to sanction the payment of dividend.

A cabled summary has now been received from the Shamva Mines of the promised report on the property by Dr. Malcolm Maclaren, the well-known geologist, who has examined the mine during his visit to Rhodesia. The outlook for the future of the mine, according to this summary, is very satisfactory, especially as in this type of ore channel there is a likelihood of an improvement in the tenor of the ore body in depth, and material enrichment may be found below the intrusion of possible felsite dyke. No recommendation can be made, the report states, as the general development underground is entirely approved.

COMPANY MEETING.

UNITED BRITISH OILFIELDS OF TRINIDAD.

Lieutenant-Colonel the Lord Cochrane of Cults, presiding yesterday at the ordinary general meeting of the United British Oilfields of Trinidad, said the total proceeds of sales exceeded the total of costs and purchases by more than £55,000, exclusive of a considerable increase in the value of stocks of oil. In regard to operations and prospects on the fields held and controlled by the company production had been more than maintained. A greater proportion of time was devoted to the continuation and reconditioning of wells already in hand at the beginning of the year or previously completed. The discovery of deeper sands in the chief producing field, while affording additions to production, naturally made for the slower and more costly completion of wells.

The Chairman, replying to questions, said that everything possible was being done under expert advice to get the utmost production from the wells, and prospects were not hopeless. The board were satisfied they were getting the best prices for their product. The proceeds from sales were £174,000, which represented about 70s. per ton. All that was necessary for the success of the company was a larger output, which the board were doing their utmost to bring about. They had no contracts with other companies for the purchase of their oil. This was sold in the open market for the best prices obtainable, which, in the opinion of the board, were exceptionally good.

The report and accounts were unanimously agreed to.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT

SALE OF MODERN RESIDENCE AND VALUABLE HOLDINGS OF LAND.

JOHN DOOLY and SONS have been favoured with instructions from Miss M. J. DOORLEY, to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, AT EGAN'S HOTEL, BIRR

(IF NOT PREVIOUSLY DISPOSED OF BY PRIVATE TREATY).

ON FRIDAY, THE 19TH SEPTEMBER, 1924

(FAIR DAY), AT 2 O'CLOCK,

All That, the Vendor's Right, Title and Interest in and to part of the Lands of Creggan, Glosterboy and Magherabane, situate in and about the Town of Cloghan, in the County of Offaly, and all purchased out by the Vendor pursuant to the provisions of the Irish Land Act, 1903:—

The Property will be offered for Sale in Three Lots, viz:—

LOT 1—Part of the Lands of Creggan, Glosterboy, and Magherabane containing 58 acres 3 roods 16 perches, Statute measure, or thereabouts, held from Irish Land Commission, subject to the present annuity of £35 13/8. Poor Law Valuation, £51 10/-.

On this Lot there stands Creggan House, the present residence of the Vendor, an up-to-date two-storey modern slated Dwellinghouse, with railed-in plot in front, facing the Market Square, Cloghan.

The Residence contains spacious entrance hall, large drawingroom and diningroom, breakfast-room, pantries, kitchen and dairy on ground floor; 5 large airy bedrooms, together with servant's room, on second floor, and the House is in the best of repair.

There are two large Enclosed Yards at the rear, with complete range of substantially-built slated and iron roofed Out-offices, including harness room, motor house, large turf shed, boiler house, and hay shed, 71ft. by 20ft.; coach house, stabling for 5 horses, with two loose boxes; cow house, with 20 ties; large barn, piggery, fowl-house, and cattle shed to accommodate 40 head. There is also a large corn loft over portion of these premises, 99ft. by 18ft.

There is a spring well with pump in the yard, and also large concrete water tanks.

Adjoining the front yard are two well-stocked Fruit and Vegetable Gardens.

Included in this Lot are also 5 substantially-built Slated Houses and Shop Premises, situate in Ferbane street. Four of these Houses are at present Set to solvent tenants; the remaining portion of the Premises, comprising Shop and House, is unlet.

LOT 2.—Another Part of the Lands of Creggan, Glosterboy and Magherabane, containing 10 acres 2 roods 35 perches, Statute measure, or thereabouts, held from the Irish Land Commission, subject to the present annuity of £6 4/2. Poor Law Valuation, £12 5/-.

LOT 3.—A further Part of the Lands of Magherabane and Cloghan, containing 36 acres 3 roods 0 perches, Statute measure, or thereabouts, held from the Irish Land Commission, subject to the present annuity of £15 8/1. P.L.V. £24 15/-.

On this Lot there is a small portion, comprising 2 roods 11 perches, Set to a solvent tenant.

The Auctioneers invite the attention of farmers and the public generally to this important Sale, for seldom is land of such richness and fattening qualities offered for public competition.

The Lands are laid out in convenient sized fields, well fenced, watered and sheltered, situate in the immediate vicinity of the important Fair and Market Town of Cloghan, and close to Belmont Railway Station, and possess all the advantages which make farming successful and profitable.

Vacant Possession of the Residence can be given on closing, and of all the other Lots subject to existing tenancies.

An arrangement as to the disposal of the Crops on the Holdings can be made at the time of Sale.

Terms—One-fourth the purchase money, together with 5 p.c. Auctioneers' Fees, on purchasers being declared. For further particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to

What People are Saying:

That Men's Tailoring has undergone a revolution.
That Ready-made Clothes have come to stay.
That there is great comfort in buying under new conditions.
That the number of patterns and range of sizes is simply wondrous.
That a man can save about £3 on a first-grade suit.
That the fit is better, the model much smarter, and labour as good as the best made to measure work.
That the shapeliness is retained and the wear lasting.
That there is one House responsible for the great change—"The House for Men."
That any man not satisfied with his purchase gets his money back.
That any man bringing his grievance to "The House for Men" leaves it there.
That The House for Men is jealous of its value, its service, its good name.

Winter Overcoats will be delivered September 20th.

DUBLIN'S "Cheaper" for Clothing than London.—To expect such is reasonable. Our overhead charges are not nearly so high. Compare what we give with what you're accustomed to get, and the verdict's for Dublin. We save you money on every Garment. We put character before profit and quality before price. Every Garment we sell we guarantee. Sometimes a London item may be cheaper, but in the aggregate (its our considered opinion) we hold the balance; besides, its to your advantage to examine the Goods before you buy.
